Chairman of the Board

There have been several changes to our Board of Management during this last year. Mrs Elizabeth Hope and Mr Peter Shelley have both served a five-year term and have retired, and I would like to thank them publicly for their fine contribution to the school at Board level.

I believe our Board reflects an excellent mix of resources and personalities, well qualified to undertake the varied governing tasks required in our school.

During the year we welcomed two new Board members – Dr Vishy Karri, who is Associate Professor of Engineering at the University of Tasmania, and Mrs Megan Ayliffe, a practising lawyer.

Mr Harvey Gibson has continued as Head of the Board's Finance Committee, ably supported by Mr Scott Harvey. Mr Nick Heath, chair of our Planning & Development Committee, together with Mr Ian Johnston, whose engineering assistance to the school continues to be invaluable, have been kept busy with a number of projects. Mrs Pam Windsor, Professor Karri and Mrs Megan Ayliffe have been of great assistance to me on the Board's Strategic Planning Committee.

Staff leadership & vision

I would specifically like to thank our Principal, Mr Bill Toppin, for his strong leadership and management of the school. The relationship between the Principal and the school's Board is pivotal to overall success, and I thank Bill for his foresight and focussed attention on many issues.

Many of you would have seen the Principal's recent consultative approach to update and clarify the school's Vision, Mission and Aims. It is not the school's intention to regularly revisit these, but I believe this exercise has certainly resulted in defining our goals in a clear and simpler way. I particularly like the way our Latin motto has been interpreted for our younger students as "What you do matters" – the difference between successfully achieving or completing something versus just letting things happen.

Our staff remain our most important asset, and we are fortunate to retain such a high quality teaching force. I would like to thank Mrs Jenny Manthey, Mr Ian McQueen and Mr Chris Rae for their leadership of the Junior, Middle and Senior Schools. And to all staff, thank you for your dedicated teaching, and guidance of all our students.

On behalf of the Board, I wish to thank everyone in the Hutchins 'family' who have helped the school – the Parents' Association, the Foundation, the Old Boys, coaches and the volunteers in all parts of our community – all are essential to the health and wellbeing of our school. The Hutchins family spreads far and wide and the Hutchins School is very much part of the Tasmanian community.

Enrolments & Finances

From a financial point of view, this year has been another successful year for Hutchins – we have again exceeded our forecast student numbers ending the year with total student enrolments of 1,026.

I would like to recognise the efforts of Deputy Principal, Mr Barrie Irons, our Bursar, Mr Lewis Prince and Director of Development, Mr Chris Hall, whose extra efforts have significantly assisted enrolments and consequently our financial position.

The Board has continued to allocate significant funds to support the upgrading of our buildings and facilities. The Junior School modifications have now been completed and we have already commenced work on the major task of upgrading the Senior School. This work has been broken down into a number of projects, which will be completed during 2005 and 2006.

Farewell!

Overall, 2004 year has been another successful year in the school's history.

I am now stepping down as Chairman and retiring as a Member of the Board of Management, as I have recently commenced work in Melbourne as a General Manager at Timbercorp Limited.

I have thoroughly enjoyed my time on the Board at Hutchins and wish the Board and the school all the very best for the future. I will certainly remain in touch and follow the school with interest.

Mr Nick Heath will be assuming the role of Chairman and I am pleased to advise that Mr Lance Balcombe has accepted an invitation to join the Board.

Andrew Ashbolt
Chairman

From the Principal

Building here...

The rebuilding and renovations of Junior School are now complete and the old Junior School is scarcely recognizable. The occupation of the old Music School by the Junior School has given the Junior School its own self-contained area. It is a warm, welcoming place and the buildings complement a wonderful set of teachers. Major renovations on the "other side" of Nelson Road are now complete (although the dream of a new drama studio is not forgotten).

...and building there

We have turned our attention to Senior School, and that work is well in hand. The first floor is undergoing major modifications which will finally join together the different parts of this school. There are a number of different projects in the Senior School and it is expected work will take two to three years.

Looking out...

As part of our desire to look outwards from Hutchins and from Tasmania, the exchange program has developed well and there are many boys seeking a placement. Our exchanges in India, Canada, Singapore, Thailand and USA provide different experiences for different boys. We are yet to secure a French speaking school.

...and looking in

Closer to home, we have enjoyed our best sporting season that I can remember. This follows an outstanding academic year from the leavers of 2003 which will be a hard act to follow. Importantly, I believe the boys have won and lost with good grace – it still remains a challenge to convince our opposition supporters that Hutchins likes to win but, most importantly, prefers playing the game.

Curriculum change continues apace. In the Junior School the Primary Years Program (PYP) from the International Baccalaureate is being introduced in 2005. The Essential Learnings being introduced into the State Education System will impact on Hutchins curriculum (Years 7 to 10) especially as discussion is underway regarding its introduction into Years 11 and 12.

The outlook...

Finally, our short-term financial future appears brighter following the re-election of the Federal Coalition and its guarantee of realistic funding. This, together with solid enrolment growth, makes us well placed to begin 2005.

Bill Toppin

Principal

The school's reason for being has also been part of our attention this year. A "relaunch" of the school motto at Senior School Assembly drew attention to our purpose.

"Character lives after death" is perhaps not very accessible for all boys and we have used the words "What you do matters" as a focus for them. The revision of the school's mission and goals was an important step in ensuring our focus drew on our past experience and tradition, yet was relevant for our future.

Renovations begin at the Senior School

Senior Prefect

As senior students we faced challenges every day of our lives. The pressure builds from year to year as everything we did became increasingly important. This not only included our academics, but also the way we lived our final years of schooling. When we are older and look back on our time now, will we be pleased with our effort and what we achieved?

A culture of tolerance...

The culture we as a school, and even the whole world, try to achieve is all about tolerance and support for one another. Support for each other is the most important thing for society to exist cohesively. Although at the present time the world is very polarised, the only way to repair the relationships is to start from the very bottom, the youth. This year, we played a huge part by learning to support each other and tolerate one another for who we are and what we do. Our differences are what made our relationships interesting and fun. Our support for each other is what keeps this school running, and this is where a harmonious world begins. The whole school supported their peers when they were doing something they didn't enjoy, and thus gave them the knowledge that we were all a part of this school life, together.

Leadership can be undertaken, and is, by all boys – be it a prefect role or simply reading the bulletin out loud in Admin before lessons commence. The beauty about Hutchins is that this school provides opportunity for every single person to undertake some form of leadership. Even the quietest person can be a leader. After all, good leadership is what you do when no one is looking. And if you don't think anyone notices, you will be surprised because believe me they do.

A huge amount of support was evident within the school over 2004. I saw it in all areas. It was evident on the sporting field as the number of trophies we brought home this year was just phenomenal. Success is only achieved by the team which has full support for one another as well as the support of the school behind it. Hutchins' sporting teams have a unique camaraderie which makes you proud to belong. Tolerance was evident in the classroom as the success in academic reports and exam results to date was shared by a large majority of students from Year 7 right through to Year 12. Effort was also acknowledged by the school. If we saw someone who was trying really hard and doing their best despite the outcome, we weren't afraid to say well done.

Pride, support & cohesion

Pride in your school is the first step in creating this culture. Pride is a pretty crazy thing. It has the unique ability to unite. Without pride there is no support. Without support there is no cohesion and without cohesion there is no group, there is no institution. Pride is the backbone of this school. This year's Year 12 group was very close. There was cohesion, there was great support and hence there was pride. Pride can be shown in many ways. The smallest way is simply wearing your uniform neatly and hence with pride. Be proud of what you are a part of. This pride in your school is not only about uniform, but also everything associated with the school. This includes your mates: take pride in them, because they certainly take pride in you.

Opportunities

The 2004 leavers will leave Hutchins with a great head start into life. Hutchins has given us all fantastic opportunities and great experience. I must thank the Prefects. We leave the school in a very strong and healthy state and this is largely due to the work everyone put in over the year. Thank you. Thanks also to Mr Rae, Mr Overton, Mr Irons and Mr Toppin, as well as all the staff, for their commitment and support given to every single boy at Hutchins, especially the leavers. Without you, we would not have the experience, memories and values that every boy at Hutchins leaves with.

Parents' Association

The Hutchins Parents' Association continued their tireless work in 2004 thanks to a dedicated band of mothers and fathers who gave up their time and energy to assist the school.

It is important at the outset to acknowledge the efforts of the Association's Committee, comprising Lyn Sayers, Jenny Middleton, Robert Owens, James Gard, Cathi Burnett-Cosgrove, John Clark, Carmel Fenton, Sue Huizing, Peter Illingworth, Rowena Ransley and Beth Stanton, who quickly muster support throughout the year from the wider school parent community for each of the Association's activities.

The 2004 year began with another successful School Fair in February, generating a net surplus of $20,000 and representing the culmination of some excellent planning and preparation led by Carmel Fenton. This occasion also provides an early opportunity in Term 1 for parents, teachers and the boys to both unite in a common cause of service to the school and to informally network.

The involvement of parents is also demonstrated by their assistance in the two school tuckshops, from which the Association draws further income. Much of the work undertaken by the parents falls outside of the Association, by way of their support for the many of the sporting and cultural activities conducted around the school.

Without this parental assistance, such activities might not otherwise be offered to boys.

Grandparents' Days are another occasion when the boys have the opportunity to show how their days at school are spent. In facilitating these events for each part of the school (ELC, Junior, Middle and Senior), the Association assists to reach nearly every boy's extended family and receives in return some recompense for its catering efforts.

The Association's Second Term major fundraising activity was the Great Escape Raffle, returning some $5,500, for which the Association gratefully acknowledges the support of Cathi Burnett-Cosgrove at Harvey World Travel Kingston.

The Committee is also indebted to past parent Jenny Inglis who continues to contribute each year to the Association with events such as the Mothers' and Fathers' day stalls and bulb sales.

In Third Term, the Mothers' Dinner attracted over 100 guests who travelled by luxury launch to enjoy the renowned evening ambience of Peppermint Bay.

The financial benefit in 2004/05 to the school from these fundraising activities will be some $75,000 – committed by the Association for the upgrade of the Senior School Quadrangle, due for completion in early 2005. In addition, the Association contributed $15,000 to the purchase of some educational and sporting equipment, for use throughout the school.

All parents are automatically members of the Association and are invited to attend its meetings held during each school term on the third Wednesday of each month in the Conference Centre at 7.30pm. The Principal or his Deputy, together with the Assistant Director of Development, is in attendance at each meeting. At various times during the year guests from the school community are invited to speak on parenting issues or about opportunities for the boys within the school.

The Parents' Association does make a tangible difference to the resources that the school can offer to the boys and should be viewed as another partner in the school learning environment. Your contribution to the school as a parent in whatever capacity over 2004 is gratefully appreciated, and it is hoped that this same enthusiasm continues for the Association's activities in 2005.

2004 Academics

A special feature of the 2004 Speech Night was the presentation of the E M Lilley Memorial Prize for the 2003 Dux of the school. In 2003 a group of boys had exceptional results and a decision on this award was not possible until all external examination results were included in the calculation. Tom Mills, one of the group, was declared Dux and joined the Speech Night assembly for his presentation.

This year has seen some outstanding academic achievements including Chris Neugebauer (Year 10) and Jet Holloway (Year 10) who were part of a National team of 6 students to compete in an International Computer Programming Competition held in Chennai, India, during November.

Jet, along with Jarrod Brelis (Year 10) has also achieved outstanding results in the Mathematics field. Jarrod won the Intermediate Section in the Tasmanian Maths Competition (the third year in a row that he has won his year group in this competition). Jet was second in the same section. Jet won the medal for the best performance in any section by a Tasmanian student in the Australian Maths Competition, and received a high distinction in the Australian Maths Challenge.

In Term 1, while Mr Scott Young was on long service leave, Mr Mike Fishburn was Acting Head of Buckland House. In Term 3, while Mr Chris Rae was on long service leave, Mr John Overton was Acting Head of Senior School. Mrs Emma Griffiths and Mrs Virginia Priest moved from the Front Office: Mrs Griffiths to the Development Office and Mrs Priest to Junior School.

Hutchins Foundation & Development Office

The year has been very productive with local and international marketing showing positive results and with the initial stages undertaken in the review of all aspects of The Hutchins Foundation Ltd.

Foundation

The Development Office and the Foundation have assisted in several fundraising events during the year. The School Fair and its Fair Raffle were major events – partly co-ordinated by the Development Office. Other events – such as the Annual Appeal – have also raised significant funds for the school. The work of the Allocations and Investments Committee and of the School Bursar, Mr Lewis Prince, is acknowledged with gratitude. The Foundation's income from investments is a crucial source of funds used to support the school.

Senior School boys at Open Day

A complete review of all aspects of the Hutchins Foundation has commenced. The review aims to bring the Foundation up to date and to offer it new opportunities for fundraising in future years. It is anticipated that the current Articles of Association will be re-written and that a new Constitution will be presented to the Board for consideration at the Annual General Meeting in 2005.

International Marketing

New markets for recruitment were explored in India and Vietnam. The school has had a long association with IDP Education Australia and while 2004 saw several students recommended to it by this organisation, membership will not be renewed in 2005 as the return for expenditure is not satisfactory. On the other hand, Hutchins is working more closely with AEI (Australian Education International) and attended special exhibitions organised by them in several countries. The school also maintained close links with established, as well as new, education counselling firms in selected cities overseas.

The marketing potential of our association with several international schools has continued to grow. Students have been referred to Hutchins by The Chinese High School (Singapore) and The Regent's School (Bangkok). The Principal has been invited to attend the opening of the Junior High section of Ladprao Bilingual School (Bangkok) and continues to act as educational advisor to four Indonesian schools – each of which will refer students to Hutchins (and Collegiate) when the boys and girls reach Year 7 level.

Student Exchanges

The exchange program has grown well, with new exchanges established at The Doon School and Mayo College (India), The Crescent School (Canada) and Nasional High Junior School (Indonesia). In 2005 Hutchins boys will be going on exchange to a total of six schools in five different countries. The school will welcome exchange students from those countries and additional groups from Bangkok on paid study tours.

A steady number of boys comes from Germany, adding significantly to the culture of Burbury House and of the day school.

Local Marketing

In Australia the marketing drive has included participation at the Sydney Schools Expo, two education/lifestyle expos at Wrest Point and at AgFest. Principal's Seminars, information evenings held on the East Coast and the new Terrific Toddlers' Expo at Hutchins were other highlights of the year and complemented Open Day, the School Fair and the jazz and drama productions to which staff and students from near-by schools were invited guests.

Old Boys

Reunion events were organised for Old Boys in Sydney, the Gold Coast, Adelaide, Melbourne, Canberra and Perth. Attendance at each was lower than we would have anticipated. The three local Old Boys' lunches were well attended and the special Old Boys/Year 12 Leavers' luncheon was held in Burbury House towards the end of Term 3.

The Hutchins Art Prize, an initiative of the Hutchins Foundation, continues to grow and to attract quality entries from artists across the nation. The Prize is an important part of the school's cultural program and each year contributes several important works of art to The Hutchins Collection – which is now formally listed in the Foundation's accounts and which is valued at just under $400,000.

Other events

The Development Office organises or coordinates many events through the year. These events include the New Parents' Dinner, the School Fair, several Grandparents' Days and the publishing of Magenta and Black.

In the archives, new displays around the school and special research projects are the domain of Mr John Ancher.

Staffing

Pam Daly retired after almost fifty years of loyal service. A farewell morning tea was held for her and the school officially bade her farewell at Speech Night.

Replacing Mrs Daly is Mrs Emma Griffiths – another long-serving and loyal member of staff. Mrs Griffiths retains her duties as Enrolments Secretary but complements them with other duties in the Foundation and Development Office. Mrs Young has also left and has been replaced by Mrs Pamela Ennis. Mr Tony Smithies, Mr Don Camm and Mr John Ancher continue to provide excellent service to the school.

Chaplain – “Here’s One for the Road”

Having your wheels in whack

My wife and I found a great coffee shop while the tyres on our car were being replaced. When we returned to the tyre place, the man gave me the bill, and told me with relish that it is usual for wheels to be out of alignment by ½mm, but that ours were out by 8mm at both front and back! I know he relished this because he wrote it down, and then said it twice.

I considered either owning up to those times I’d driven on the curb and dived into pot-holes at speed, or just telling him it was my wife’s fault. Glancing over my shoulder and seeing that I was alone with the man and his offsider, I said, “Well, I’d better tell my wife to be more careful.” They nodded knowingly. And I went off to confession!

With wheels aligned, the driving is less harsh and much more direct. No surprise there! As Chaplain, I try to encourage people to check their “internal alignment”. If we have an active faith in Jesus and become aligned with him, then our journey forward will be so much better. It won’t escape its hard times, but it will be marked by direction, strength, and hope, and by a presence that makes the travel easier.

Some unusual inns

When C S Lewis wrote about us being on a journey, he said, “Our Father refreshes us on the journey with some pleasant inns, but will not encourage us to mistake them for home.”

Well, there have been some great moments along the road this year at Hutchins – some times of breaking the journey by sitting in pleasant and unusual inns.

I raised a glass to those students I accompanied to the Blood Bank. I watched as they bared their veins to the nurse, while baring their teeth the other way as the needle went in. I was impressed with their preparedness to put themselves through this to help others (and to get to the free roll and milkshake at the end!). The Blood Bank became a pleasant inn in 2004.

So too did Southport. Mrs Headlam and I took 11 boys from Year 8 to Southport for a “Seekers’ Weekend”. We had four formal sessions, ranging from “Why do bad things happen to good people?” and “Who am I becoming” to “Unmasking the Da Vinci Code”, and we spent lots of time together eating, reflecting, having fun and enjoying the beach and the sun. We hope to host more such weekends next year.

The Chapel of St Thomas became a pleasant inn at times in 2004, but not because of its altar wine! Here was where we installed the Miraculous Catch windows in memory of Michael Goodram. This project was worth celebrating! Here on Tuesday mornings a small but loyal group of boys (usually from the Junior School) and staff gathered for communion. It was great to have parents come, too! Baptisms and confirmations were among the high points of Chapel life in 2004; as were those moments during services when the listening was intense, the singing passionate, and the times of silence reverent and expectant. These experiences may not be the norm for all students (or staff! or the Chaplain!) at all services, and there may be long days “between drinks” as it were, but when these special moments occur they are all the more memorable.

Included in my list of things that have made the journey brighter are some one-off moments: the young seeker who said, “I want to believe”; the leaver who asked to be baptised; the student who came for a blessing before the exams. And speaking of exams, there was the Year 10 science exam where Mrs Williams and I caused havoc by putting the main clock right, not having been told until much later that it had been set back 10 minutes for a REASON!

Best wishes to fellow travellers

We do not travel alone, or without hope and promise. Take courage and strength from those high moments when God refreshes you in pleasant inns. Do check your inner alignment from time to time, avoid pot-holes, and NEVER let your partner talk alone to the tyre-man if your wheels are out of whack!

The Design

Fish swimming from the back of the Chapel to the front, with their colours becoming increasingly bright and vibrant as they come closer to the Sanctuary. The fish represent Christians on a journey into the presence of God — a pilgrimage undertaken with others. There is no compulsion to go on this journey, and one fish swims the other way.

When Jesus first called his disciples on the beach, in the Gospel of Luke, and when he was with his disciples at the beach after his resurrection, there were miraculous catches of fish.

Being inside the Chapel surrounded by these fish is like being part of Jesus' miraculous catch.

The Work

Sessions were all after school hours, usually on two afternoons a week, in the old Prefects' room. The process involved numbering and cutting the patterns; numbering, cutting and grinding the sheets of glass, one colour at a time, and putting the pieces for each window on the appropriate shelf. That work lasted for two terms. The third term and holidays were devoted to leading up the windows, soldering, puttying and polishing.

Centre for Excellence

*Amanda Moorfield
(ESL aide) with Taan and
Martin (Year 8 students)*

Students who have not yet achieved appropriate levels of competence have been provided with intensive support and resources. In 2004, Mrs Wendy Sakul and Mrs Penny Brown have been responsible for the Centre's ELC and Junior School support program. Moreover, the Centre has provided regular and rigorous opportunities for the extension of gifted students in the ELC and Junior School.

Pre-writing visual perception

Federal funding has allowed the centre to continue to expand the nature of its service delivery. This year, Wendy has run a Visual Perceptual Motor Program in the ELC. This program is aimed at improving the learning outcomes of "at risk" students by targeting pre-writing skills through exercises and games. Federal funds have also provided the opportunity to afford additional teacher time to improve the literacy skills of boys in Years 6 and 7.

Literacy Lifeboats

Mr Ken Kingston has continued his Middle School focus. Centre electives such as Literacy Lifeboat and Independent Learning have provided opportunities for Year 8 boys to improve both their literacy and study skills.

Study Support

Senior School boys are able to seek additional support in their learning through the Centre for Study Support elective offered in Years 9 and 10. Centre for Study Support provides opportunities for teaching and learning to be personalized to meet the needs of individual students.

Students are encouraged to reflect on their thinking and to have a constructive understanding of their learning.

We have been very fortunate to have the support of Mrs Amanda Thomson and Mrs Alex Hagan. Amanda and Alex have worked as teacher assistants with several of our students. Their dedication and professionalism have been greatly appreciated and their superior skills have made significant contributions to the learning outcomes of the boys.

Professional development

In 2004, the Centre for Excellence has continued to provide professional development for the school community. In May, Professor Francois Gagne presented his model of differentiation for gifted and talented students to all staff. In June, the Centre hosted an evening for Autism Tasmania, focusing on Asperger's Syndrome. In July, Mrs Jo Cook instructed a group of Directors of Education from Thailand in Future Problem Solving. Future Problem Solving provides for a challenging program that utilizes higher order thinking skills within a collaborative framework.

Structures for caring

Our structures for caring ensure that the Centre for Excellence provides an extremely supportive learning environment for both students and staff. We look forward to expanding these further in 2005.

Student Exchange Visit

Singapore's Chinese High School

In the last two weeks of Term 2, Ms Schafferius and Year 9/10 boys Ben Lawless, William Hewer, Cyton Tong, Sam Thompson, Leighton Beer and John McQuillan embarked on an exchange to The Chinese High School in Singapore.

Chinese High has about 1600 students who assemble every morning at 7.20am to attend flag raising. This consists of singing the National anthem and pledging their allegiance to their country while watching their national flag being raised. We had to be in our classrooms for lessons to begin at 8.00 am. We attended the classes on Building Wealth, Sport and Film Studies.

School finished around 1.30 pm and then all the students attend afternoon sports. We saw judo, table tennis, wushu drumming, sword fighting and army cadets all in action. We also attended Chinese painting lessons and seal carving.

While in Singapore, many activities were organized for us. We spent an afternoon at the Changi and Kranji War Memorials. We also visited the Singapore Zoo and Night Safari where we were able to see nocturnal animals such as lions, bats and boars in their own environment, all in the darkness of night. We went to the Asian Civilizations

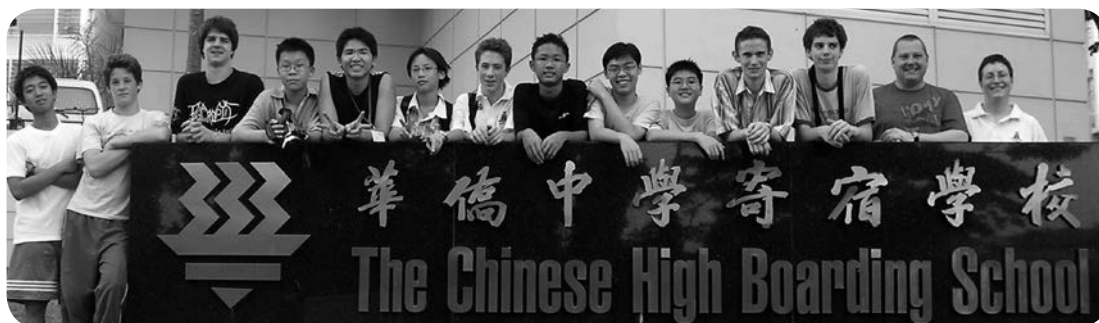

Museum and the Chinatown Heritage centre, each giving us a better understanding of Asian history and culture.

We spent a day competing in The Amazing Race, in which we were given tasks to do — for example, go to a particular supermarket in Singapore and buy exactly 77g of nuts. Racing around Singapore on public transport and taxis certainly turned a few heads. Although running through streets in 35-degree heat tired us all out, we had great fun.

One of our weekends was spent at a billet's house. Most people in Singapore live in small apartments, so for us it was a big change to squeeze in such a small place with a whole family. We went on outings with our families and ate home-cooked meals. We were also surprised to see that many families have maids, who were up before we were, and who went to bed after we were asleep.

For many of us, this was the first time overseas and opened up our eyes to the world, enabling us to grasp a whole new culture we wouldn't have known about. We came home with memories and friendships that will last a life time.

Gap students 2004

Strong ties continue to be developed between Hutchins and a number of overseas schools — allowing many of our boys to enjoy a Gap year between Year 12 and university. The boys experience a range of opportunities which provide them with a wider perspective on life before settling in to further study or work.

During 2004 seven Hutchins boys were involved in the school-organised program:

James Walsh & Hugh Thomson	China
Piers Symons & Ben Harvey	Thailand
Harkiran Narulla & Andrew Dawson	USA
Matthew Bax	South Africa.

Additionally, James Ashbolt spent a year in England through GAP Australia.

For 2005, the following boys have been selected to represent Hutchins:

Matthew Wilson & Andrew Bennett	South Ocean Schools, Taiyuan, China
Joshua Phillips & Michael Andrews	The Regent's School, Thailand
Martin Mulcahy & David Creak	University School, Cleveland
Sam Kirby-Fahey	Wyndberg Boys' High School, South Africa.

Yet to be confirmed are placements with Tasmanian Independent Schools Overseas Student Services in China for Louis Alderdice, Kyle Hedrick and Stuart Smith.

Joining Hutchins this year from South Africa were Michael Coppinger and Michael Dexter from Hilton College and David Hendricks from Wyndberg Boys' High School. They have provided outstanding service to the school during their year with us.

SRC Report

The Student Representative Council of 2004 once again put in many hours of work to improve the welfare of the whole school community as well as the wider community. Eleven Year 11 students hold positions on the executive and, working with Ms Schafferius, they took on a huge array of activities.

General Secretary

Ramanan Daniel undertook this tireless job. He recorded and published the minutes from each meeting every week. The General Secretary also took on the mammoth role of coordinator of the 40 Hour Famine for World Vision. This raised many thousands of dollars for the charity.

Sports

The sports portfolio was run by Jack Viney and Raj Narulla. They ran popular lunchtime activities for the students including an Indoor Soccer Competition, 3-on-3 Basketball Competition, Indoor Hockey Competition and Torparama.

Environment

Andrew Carolan and Andrew Volkman had the Environment portfolio and came up with many new ideas on how to help the environment. They organized clean-ups at school and in Lambert Park. They ran a paper-making activity with Junior School boys and helped the Junior School with National Schools Plant-a-Tree Day.

Student Enrichment

James Downie and Tim Jones led Student Enrichment. They published an Exam Tips Booklet and a Clubs &

Activities and Socials

Led by Pete Mulcahy and Alex Dance, this portfolio was responsible for many entertaining events. They held a Chess Competition, Darts Competition and a hilarious Spaghetti Pig-Out Competition.

Service

Ian Mitchell and Dennis Ng were responsible for running activities such as Shave for a Cure, Wuppie selling, Butterfly Badges for deafness, the Great Debate, the Big Event and a Barbecue for the Hutchins Annual Appeal.

Pamela Daly – a Farewell

Pam Daly - farewelled after almost 50 years of loyal service!

Pam joined Hutchins in Macquarie Street as a 17-year-old girl in 1958. She served in the School Office and, when the Hutchins Foundation was created, in 1977 she became the Development Office and Foundation Secretary. She has worked tirelessly for the school – a total of thirty-eight years of service, with two breaks while she cared for her two children, Karyn and Dean. Dean is a Hutchins Old Boy who attended the school from 1979-1990. Her last period of employment at Hutchins has been a remarkable continuous 26 years of service.

In her time at Hutchins, Pam has served under nine different Headmasters, one Principal and three Directors of Development. She has been an invaluable source of knowledge of the school – its staff, the boys, the personalities and the history. She has co-ordinated numerous Grandparents' Days, Old Boys' reunions and fundraising campaigns, typed hundreds of letters and sets of minutes and agenda, organised the hire of fairy floss and snow cone machines, maintained order in scores of filing cabinets, answered thousands of telephone calls and been the constant smiling face which greeted people as they came into the Development Office.

Pam Daly's service has been exemplary for almost half a century and the whole school community—including several generations of boys—wish her well in her retirement, during which she plans to spend more time travelling, more time with her grand children, and more time not having to get up early in the morning to go to work.

Christ College: Anglican Dream, Hutchins Nightmare

The fates of The Hutchins School and Christ College have always been inextricably linked. Launceston Grammar is the third partner in a triumvirate that realized the earliest Anglican vision for education in Tasmania.

The ebb and flow of this partnership makes fascinating reading. Aims were initially worthy, later prompted by survival instincts, political intrigue and small-mindedness. Eventually a workable solution was contrived, in 1926. The Christ College Trust remains in operation to this day. The following article attempts to summarise a very difficult progression. Note that the original name—"Christ's College"—was shortened to "Christ College" in 1926.

The Earliest Days

During the 1820s there were those in Hobart Town, when the colony was in the very early days of settlement, calling for the establishment of a 'superior school' or college that would equip the sons of well-connected free settlers for a university education. Governor Arthur attempted to found a collegiate institution in the north in 1826. He followed by seeking to set up a King's School in New Norfolk (1828) then later in Hobart Town (1833).

Governor Franklin succeeded Arthur and in 1838 he wrote to his old friend the legendary Dr Arnold of Rugby School in England for guidance in the setting up of a college in Van Diemen's Land. Franklin requested that the colonial college should be based on the Eton or Rugby model, allowing the sons of the gentry to receive a liberal education beyond the normal schooling available to all.

Dr Arnold responded enthusiastically to the concept of this higher form of Christian learning and selected the 23-year-old Cambridge man—John Philip Gell—to be the College's founding Head. Gell chose the name Christ's College, a choice of which Dr Arnold approved, believing that the name 'seems of itself to hallow Van Diemen's Land'.

Under Franklin's insistence, the site chosen for this initial realization of Christ's College was at New Norfolk on a small government-owned farm of 83 acres. The foundation stone was laid on 6 November 1840. Six days later it was stolen. Opposition to the project by the powerbrokers of the colony was considerable.

By 1843, when Governor Franklin was recalled, work had still not commenced on building Christ's College at New Norfolk.

The Anglican Bishop of Tasmania in 1844 was Bishop Nixon, a strong supporter of Christ's College. That year Nixon sent his Archdeacon back to England on a fund-raising campaign for the establishment of a Christian college in Van Diemen's Land, repository of the Mother Country's convicts. Considerable monies were raised by Archdeacon Marriott in England, boosting contributions from benefactors in the colony. The total of subscriptions received by August 1846 was 12,900 pounds, sufficient funds to build a noble institution in the country.

Realization of the Dream

In 1847, Christ's College had become a built reality in Bishopsbourne, a remote rural location 100 miles from Hobart close to the township of Longford. It was situated on 3,200 acres of good land which was fenced and cleared. The College library had over 3,000 books. Potential pupils were offered nine endowed scholarships of 20-30 pounds per annum. Three Divinity fellowships were occupied by candidates for Holy Orders. The Warden was the Rev Gell. The Sub-Warden was also ordained. Seven students were enrolled in the College course in 1847, and 20 boys were in residence undergoing preparation for enrolment.

By 1856 Christ's College was bankrupt. It was closed down by Bishop Nixon and its assets were handed over to a Board of Trustees. The Rev Gell had returned to England in 1848 to marry Governor Franklin's daughter.

At this point it is necessary to take a step backwards to see where Hutchins and Launceston Grammar fit into the Anglican vision for colonial education in Van Diemen's Land. The overall concept was ambitious: to give Anglican boys in the colony a complete Christian education, from infancy through to university, by its associated grammar schools Hutchins and Launceston Grammar. Christ's College offered a specialised education in Divinity for those boys wishing to pursue a career in the Church and, as well, was able to polish the learning of boys from the grammar schools progressing on to university beyond the colony. It was in accordance with this broad plan that both Hutchins School and Launceston Church Grammar School were established within six months of one another in 1846. They were the popular extensions of an Anglican institution committed to higher learning and refinement — Christ's College.

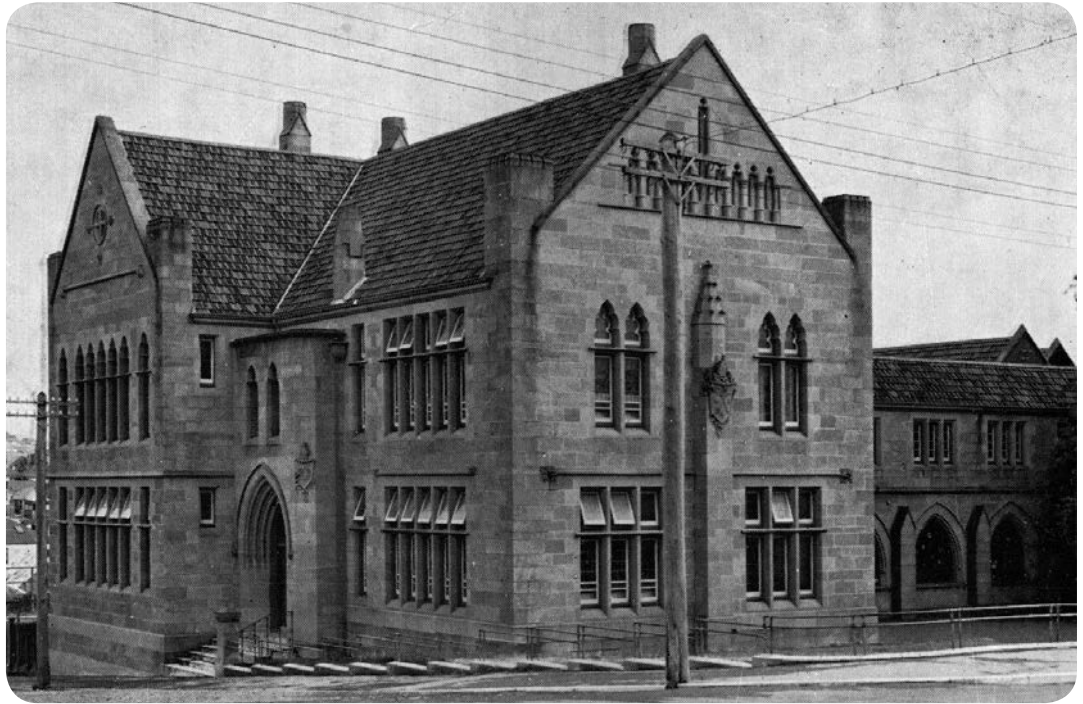

Christ's College was well endowed. It had been gifted land on the Ancanthe Estate just outside Hobart and even had a few acres in the vicinity of Athens as its classical link. The Anglican Church always regarded Hutchins and Launceston Grammar as the College's satellites and a 'necessary evil' (an Anglican marketing strategy' in today's terms) yet they survived and flourished while Christ's College lurched from crisis to crisis only existing as a grand idea for most of its early period. The debt from the disastrous Bishopsbourne venture was not wiped until 1872. During this time the two successful schools were denied funds at a juncture when they were both in most need of consolidating their assets. The financial imperatives of Christ's College were always given priority over those of the schools because Christ's College was the embodiment of the Anglican vision for colonial education.

In 1873, the Christ's College Bill was presented to Parliament. Debate raged as to whether Hutchins should be absorbed by the College, affiliate with it, or whether Hutchins be allowed to continue at all, as one of the College's feeder schools.

Over the next twenty years further attempts were made to kick-start and relaunch Christ's College as a viable institution. An 1879 initiative folded four years later with the Headmaster of Hutchins, Rev J V Buckland, complaining to the Bishop that Christ's College was not fulfilling its initial purpose as a purveyor of higher learning and that it was operating as a school in direct competition with Hutchins. In 1885, an amalgamation with another private school saw the fortunes of the College fluctuate wildly over a brief six year period until its closure in 1891.

A continuing threat

In 1905, Bishop Mercer, no friend of Hutchins, recommended to Christ's College Council that Hutchins be sold and that new buildings be built outside Hobart from the profits of the sale. His purpose was to throw all Anglican eggs from the south of Tasmania into the Christ's College basket. The Council rejected his proposal.

In 1909, an Equity Case was heard in the Supreme Court of Hobart to determine how the accumulated Christ's College funds of about 20,000 pounds should be spent. Following robust argument, the Court's verdict was that Christ's College should be established according to the intentions of the original founders whilst at the same time affording 'real assistance to the affiliated grammar schools'. This "two-bob-each-way" decision hardly resolved the issue.

In 1911, the Christ's College Council commissioned a report to investigate the reopening and organising of the College. The report recommended the opening of Christ's College in affiliation with the two schools whilst at the same time operating a parallel teaching program to the University of Tasmania, founded in 1889. College staff, the report went on to assert, would need to be of the highest quality providing teaching for those undertaking higher education, coaching for weak university students and tuition for private and theological students. College staff would be shared with Hutchins.

Affiliation

In early 1912, an Act of Parliament was passed authorizing the Trustees of Hutchins to sell or lease land at the Macquarie Street premises of the school (adjacent to Barrack Street and known as 'the Orchard') to the Trustees of Christ's College. In December 1912, L H Linden was appointed Warden of Christ's College and Headmaster of Hutchins. There was no notion of amalgamation. Both School and College would co-exist as separate institutions with mutual co-operation.

Christ's College in its 1912 version was set up as a University of Tasmania hostel offering higher education to Hutchins boys and others wishing to avail themselves of the opportunity. The school was handed over to a Board of Management half of whom were Old Boys. The College Council undertook the erection of new classrooms and laboratories as an extension of the Hutchins School premises, on the Barrack Street side.

In 1914, the new building work was complete. As operational arrangements following affiliation took shape, it became apparent that 'the mutual co-existence' status of the two institutions was inevitably confused. Christ's College enrollees played in Hutchins teams and exercised authority as tutors in the school. The two bodies were effectively merging clumsily into one.

In December 1926, the Headmaster of Hutchins, C C Thorold, announced at Speech Night that a new formal arrangement linking Christ's College and the two Anglican Church schools existed. He was referring to the Christ College Act. The financial support offered to Hutchins since the affiliation—a stream of remuneration that had assured the school's prosperity during the war years—would be terminated. In prompting this development, the Christ's College Council recognized that as a consequence of its close links with Hutchins, both physical and academic, Christ's College had ceased to exist as an effective entity since 1914.

Christ College Trust

Under the Christ College Act of 1926, all property formerly vested in the Trustees of Christ College, in the Trustees of The Hutchins School, in the Trustees of The Launceston Church of England Grammar School, and the Trustees of the property known as the Ancanthe Estate, and Franklin Endowment, became vested in the Christ College Trust, subject to all mortgages, leases and other contracts lawfully made in respect thereof. The Christ College Trust is a corporate body comprising the Board of Christ's College and the boards of the two schools. The corporate body has perpetual succession and a common seal, and full power and authority to hold land and other property.

The Christ College Act, still binding to this day, provides a constitution for the Christ College Trust. Annual income generated by the Trust is divided into equal shares of 30%, money passing on to the three boards. The remaining 10% is retained to reinstate capital at the discretion of the Trustees of Christ College Trust.

Going back to 1926, Christ's College as a close affiliate of Hutchins, in its premises adjoining the Hutchins School in Macquarie Street, was closed down, so frequently its fate over the 84 years of a faltering existence. It reopened in 1929, in rented premises as a residential college for University students and the theological college for the Diocese. In 1937 it moved into the old Trinity Rectory, sure of its pastoral and educational roles and consolidating its position as a vital arm of the Anglican Church in Tasmania. The present Christ College is a distinguished establishment, designed by the notable architect Dirk Bolt and built in the late 1950s in the grounds of the University at Sandy Bay.

Junior School & Early Learning Centre "Doorways"

"Doorways" has been one of the themes in the Early Learning Centre and Junior School this year: the boys are aware of the doorways of opportunity that are available here at Hutchins. They are all encouraged 'to have a go' and do their best, safe in the knowledge that they will receive support and guidance.

However, we also want to teach the boys to be resilient and to cope with obstacles and change so that if at first the door appears closed, with persistence and creativity a way through will be found. The boys know that they are accountable and that their choices and actions also determine which doors will open.

...not bricks and mortar

This year is the "International Year of the Building," which seems particularly appropriate for the Early Learning Centre and Junior School as there has been an extensive building program. We have the near-new Early Learning Centre, the new Music Block and now a refurbished Junior School building with new classrooms, library, staffroom and Centre for Excellence. While it is not bricks and mortar which makes a school, it certainly makes for a more aesthetic and efficient workplace that the staff and students take great pride in.

Musically, the boys have returned from Eisteddfods with prizes and awards receiving a number of first places for individual and choir events. Physically the boys have also performed well achieving fine results in the independent school swimming carnival and athletics carnival – not to forget the Learn to Swim Program and the various House-based competitions.

Add to these stimulating class programs, camps, excursions, community projects, the Mainland Trip, clubs, Poetry and Prose, Wakakirri and other performances and it becomes clear that the boys have had a most successful and productive year in and out of the classroom.

The struggle behind doors...

However, alongside these exciting achievements there have also been the quieter individual achievements that are just as significant. Parents and teachers are well aware of the struggle behind certain doors for some children. It is always immensely heartening to see a child tenaciously tackle and conquer his own personal challenges – such as overcoming a learning difficulty, or in discovering how to successfully relate to others.

Our teachers are constantly searching for ways to offer the best in education. To that end we have spent a lot of time reflecting on what the hallmarks of quality teaching are and have continued to work on our new Peer mentoring and Professional Development System. Most of the staff have now been through the process and have gained considerably.

We have also reviewed and updated our Mathematics and Health curriculum. Our recently-developed behaviour policy which is based on reformatory justice is aligned with the best in current practice and is now used as a model for some other schools in Tasmania.

Success relies on staff...

We know through the research available that the success of any school rests not with the facilities or buildings but with the staff. Hutchins has exceptionally high calibre staff who have been recognized by the wider community. Mrs Trish Knight was chosen as part of an international team to accredit a school in Melbourne and Mr Dean Docking received a medal at the Tasmanian Quality Teaching Awards presented by the Australian College of Education. We farewell Sophie Edwards who is a passionate, committed teacher who has contributed much to the Junior School and made a tremendous commitment to the students' rowing program. We wish her all the very best for her upcoming adventures overseas.

There is an old Indian fable that reminds us of the importance of the 'whole child'. In a village there lived seven blind men who each go out through their hut door to feel the 'strange something'. The first one says "It's a pillar"; the second one said "it's a snake"; the next a "spear", then a "great cliff"; then a "fan"; and finally a "rope". The last blind man felt the whole "strange something" back and forth, top to bottom and all around. He returned and exclaimed, "It's an elephant!" as indeed it was.

Academically, the boys have participated in the Maths Olympiad, World of Trivia Quiz, the Australasian Maths, Science and English competitions and benchmark testing. They have fared very well at a state and national level and scored a variety of medals, and numerous high distinctions, distinctions and credits.

Above all it is for the student that we are all here. It is up to us as a school community to not only open doors to learning but to take the time to perceive the whole child in his uniqueness and to nurture all facets of his development.

Junior School Music

The Junior School music program provides the boys with a wealth of musical experiences which develop an appreciation of music and their own particular talent. This year has been a most rewarding one for the boys in terms of performing, with opportunities to be involved in Assemblies, Eisteddfods, Bands, Choirs, Concerts, Chapel Services, Anniversary Week, Soirees and Wakakirri.

String Program

With the purchase of 24 coloured violins we are delighted that the String Program can now be extended beyond Year 3.

In 2005 the program will be running in Years 3, 4 and 5 – thus laying a strong foundation for the development of our orchestra.

Eisteddfods

One hundred and fifty boys represented the school in both the Hobart and Clarence Eisteddfods.

The ELC Choir was awarded first place in both Eisteddfods and also won the Perpetual Shield. The Year 3/4 Choir followed their Hobart success with a wonderful achievement in the Clarence Eisteddfod – being awarded first place from a field of fourteen schools.

Many boys were also successful in gaining Award and Merit certificates for Solo Performances of piano, vocal, verse speaking, prepared reading and instrumental. They all performed admirably and were a credit to themselves and the school.

Combined Schools' Concert

The Year 5/6 Choir was involved in an exciting musical venture with Pittwater House Junior School from Sydney. Together with Friends and Collegiate Choirs, the boys were involved with a series of workshops where their vocal skills were further developed and new songs were learned. The culmination of these workshops resulted in a concert performance by the combined schools with over 100 voices.

Teddy Bears' Picnic

All Year 3 and 4 boys participated in the "Teddy Bears' Picnic" at the Royal Botanical Gardens. The event was organised by the Tasmanian Playgroup Association. The boys were invited to present two brackets of songs which were very well received by an audience of nearly 1,000 – both young and old. Of course the entertainment would not have been complete without the singing of "The Teddy Bears' Picnic".

Soirees

In early November 80 boys, who learn music through private tuition, had the opportunity to perform at the annual Soirees. A wide range of instruments were heard including piano, violin, cello, guitar, saxophone, trombone, drums and voice.

Concerts

Our boys were also very busy entertaining the "old folk" at St Peter's Church in Sandy Bay. Over the course of the year, three concerts were presented. The variety programs were very well received by a most appreciative audience.

Carol Evening

Together with the girls from Collegiate, the ELC boys led the carol singing at a most successful Family Carol Evening in the grounds of the ELC. The highlight of the evening was the visit by Father Christmas.

Presentation Night

The climax for the year was the Junior School Presentation Night, where boys from Year 1 to Year 6 presented a smorgasbord of entertainment.

Items included a stirring rendition of Mambo No. 5, by the Year 6 Band, the ELC presentation of Hutchins Inc, the String Orchestra, Year 3 and Year 4 Violin players, Year 4 Drama presentation, the Treble Singers, Year 5/6 Drama Club and the Massed Choir of 240 voices.

Our thanks to Mrs Michelle Weeding and Mr Bruce Cash, for their continued support and enthusiasm, by providing a wonderful environment in which to nurture our boys' musical education.

Mary and Joseph are walking to Bethlehem and they are trying to go into the Inn but there is no room. But there was a farm at the back of the Inn so they had to lay baby Jesus in the stable.

Nat

The baby Jesus and Mary are in a cottage with Joseph. They are in a stable and their donkey was outside. There was a star, an angel and a sun on top of them. When they went outside they saw some shepherds.

Luke

There is a donkey in my picture. The donkey was chosen because Mary needed to go to Bethlehem to have her new born baby.

James M

The donkey borrowed the earrings off Mary. The duck was having a drink and the sheep was standing in the ducks' water. All the chickens flew up into the roof because they thought the owls might eat them.

I drew the stars and the camels and the three kings. They were going to see the new-born king so they could give him some presents. They were going up the hill.

Daniel

A couple of years ago they bought a donkey then they followed the star to Bethlehem. Jesus was born in Bethlehem. Joseph and Mary were his mummy and daddy.

Stevan

My picture is the wise men going to Bethlehem. They are riding camels so they don't get tired. They are going because the baby king is born. When they get there they are going to give the baby some presents.

William

Mary and Joseph finally found somewhere to stay. Rebecca asked the Inn keeper but the Inn keeper said they asked to stay here but there was a stable out the back. There was a star over the top of the stable. There was also an angel right next to the star. Suddenly there were angels everywhere.

Abraham

Mary and Joseph were in the stable and they will have a baby boy. Rebecca was looking after the donkey and the Inn keepers said there not much room for you to live here. So they had to go to the stable and there was an angel. Suddenly there were angels everywhere and some animals came to the stable and Jesus was born in a manger. It was snowing when they had Jesus and the three wise men came to see him and there were shepherds coming to see him. There were more than fourteen animals and there was a special star to show you where the stable was. The baby boy will be the king of the land and Rebecca came with the donkey to see the baby Jesus and they were having a good prayer for when Jesus is a really big boy and they will be happy and laugh.

James T

This is the three wise men's castle. The three wise men saw a special star. It was leading them to Bethlehem. The shepherds were minding their sheep then they saw the special star and it was leading them to Bethlehem too.

Roan

There was a star and there were some sheep. There were some mountains and there were some shepherds. The shepherds were gathering the sheep and were surprised and it was snowing and the angel appeared. I don't know what the angel said.

David

I am an angel up in the air and Mary is riding a donkey. Joseph is walking in front of Mary. They saw a bird and Joseph bumped into a tree.

Julian

This is the part where the shepherds are with the sheep. I drew Daniel the star up in the sky. My shepherds are wearing hats and they have crooks.

Ben S

There is a shepherd and he is trying to catch the sheep and it is heading for a cliff. The shepherd didn't know that a star was there. The star was there because baby Jesus was born.

Max

I drew some shepherds. The shepherds looked after the sheep. The shepherds saw the star and they wanted to follow it. They found Jesus in a manger.

Ben G

A shepherd was walking. Then he saw his sheep. Then the shepherd saw this tunnel. He went through the tunnel, which led to a shed where Baby Jesus was born. There were shepherds. There were ox and there were the Wise Men.

Ian

The boy is sitting down with his crook and he is lighting his fire and all the sheep gathered round. When all of the sheep gathered round some angels came and when the angels came they told him there was a new baby boy and he'll be the King. He will be called Jesus.

Will D

It was the first day of Christmas. Baby Jesus had his birthday today. Three Wise Men came to give Baby Jesus a present. It was gold. Here is Mary holding baby Jesus. She was very happy.

Albert

The shepherd is looking after his sheep at night and he went to the stable and he saw a baby and he didn't know if the baby was a king; but he knew, because the lady and the man who went by were special people. It's night time and the moon is out.

Sean

The shepherds were looking at the angel and the angel said, "The baby is born in a stable. You will follow this star and you will find Him."

Rainier

The donkey was tired after the journey to Bethlehem. He didn't find some food to eat. The donkey was going to find somewhere to sleep and then Mary was having a baby. Then Jesus was born.

Ben

Mary and Joseph were going to Bethlehem to get the new king, Baby Jesus. This is the tunnel they went through, and Mary sat on a donkey, Joseph walked in front. There was a fairy watching.

Michael G

The shepherd is going to Bethlehem to find baby Jesus. The star is leading them to Bethlehem. The shepherd is taking his sheep with him. It took the shepherds four days to get to Bethlehem.

Michael T

Mary rode to Bethlehem to get the baby born what was called Baby Jesus and they asked some people if they could stay at their houses and they went to the inn. The innkeeper said, "No, but you can stay in my stable." Baby Jesus was born and he slept in the manger. The shepherds came to see the Baby. The star led the Three Wise Men to Baby Jesus and then the angels came to comfort the Baby Jesus.

Connor

This is the drummer boy. He is playing his drum. Baby Jesus is putting his hands up because he likes the music. He wants more music. A baby doesn't normally go in a manger but Baby Jesus was born a very long time ago and they didn't sleep in beds.

Aleksander

Baby Jesus and Joseph and Mary went to the inn, but there was no room. The angels came to Nazareth. The cow is watching over them. They had to go the long way. Suddenly there were angels everywhere!

Sam

There are four angels in the sky and they are telling the shepherds that a new baby has been born. "Go to the stable and see the new baby that has been born," they said.

Will B

Once upon a time there were some angels flying in the sky. They were sending a message to the shepherds. "Do not be afraid. Go to the stable and you will find a baby boy. He will be the Son of God. His name is Baby Jesus."

Hubie

Jesus was just born. An angel appeared to tell Mary that she should call him Jesus. Joseph was finding a blanket to wrap Baby Jesus in. There was an ox and there was a donkey. Then the angel flew away. The Three Wise Men followed the star to the baby King called Jesus. Then Joseph found a blanket and Jesus was happy.

Jayden

The cow is dancing because he is happy because a new Baby King is born. The shepherds are nearly to the stable in Bethlehem. They followed the star and they made it to the stable in Bethlehem. Joseph and Mary were in the stable with Baby Jesus.

James M

Baby Jesus was born in Bethlehem. Mary is holding the Baby. Joseph looked after the baby too. The animals were watching the baby because the baby is cute.

Year 4: Classes 4K & 4E

4K: Trish Knight

4E: Sophie Edwards

This year we have mostly focused on the environment. I think I have improved on my science because I got a Distinction. I loved going to the World of Trivia; unfortunately we did not win. This year has been fun — Mrs Knight is a great teacher.

Max Macmillan 4K

This has been one of the best school years. I think I have improved a lot since the start of the year. I have had lots of fun doing maths, which I have improved a lot. The excursion for Tree Planting was good and my group planted so many trees. I wanted to go back and plant some more. I was also fascinated by the assignments we have had. All in all I have enjoyed this year.

Josh Rathbone 4K

This year is the best year in my life. I think we have been focusing on the environment. We have been looking at frogs and tadpoles and catchment areas. Our class went to Pasmenco and learned that they are cleaning up their act a lot. I have made the house safe, learned to swim at the beach and I know what to do when I hear a frog. Year 4 has helped me.

Jack Saul 4K

It started on Monday 16th: we were ready. We needed to stop people using 3.7 billion plastic bags a week because 100,000 birds, whales, seals and turtles have been dying in one year. So our mission was to use Planet Ark bags instead of plastic so that we don't poison the sea and kill the animals. I have made a difference by getting my dad to use green bags because I respect the environment.

Liam Palmer 4K

This year was my first year at Hutchins. At first I hated going to school because I didn't know anyone but now I feel part of the class. We have done a lot of things to do with improving our body, our mind and the environment. I think I have made a difference by planting trees, learning to swim because now Mum and Dad don't have to worry as much. I have learned about fire safety and how frogs have to be cared for.

James Macleod 4K

MIDDLE: Nicholas Rowell, Joshua Coles, Lucas Sims, Bryan Etherington, Richard Crotty, Nicholas Lancaster, William Lord, Aden Byrne

FRONT: Daniel Souza, Fraser McCreary, Alec Bailey, William Hughes, Mitchell Tan, Rowan Kinnane, Joshua Symonds, Lewis Noye

TEACHER: Miss Sophie Edwards

The thing I have learned most about is the Hobart Rivulet and how it is a catchment. It is good to keep it clean so we can drink the water and save the fish from dying in the water. Tree planting is good for the environment because animals can live in there and so that we can breathe. The thing I have improved most in is how to conserve more energy and help the world to use less power.

Alan Rushworth 4K

This year we had lots of fun. We did more than 30 activities. My favourite thing this year would have to be camp. We went for a 3 hour return walk to Adamson's Falls. I nearly fell off the edge but held on to one, thin branch, then Lachie reached his hand down to pull me back up.

Angus Tihema 4K

This year I have learned a lot of things and we have done a lot of things too. I have improved on my handwriting and neatness. We have been to camp and we did lots of cool things there. I have made a lot of friends. My highlights this year were meeting Andy Griffiths, Sport Carnivals and Soccer.

Tristan Cleaver 4K

This year was my first at Hutchins and I have enjoyed it. I have never had frogs in my classroom before. I think that I have made a difference for my family now knows where to go if there is a fire and are trying to use less plastic bags.

Lewis Nettlefold 4K

I think this year has been the best ever as it has made a big difference; I have learned lots more and improved my skills.

Aden Byrne 4E

Year 4 has been fun. It has been jam-packed with excursions and games! I have really enjoyed studying the lifecycle of frogs and chickens. I have enjoyed Art and Sport and the year as a whole.

Lewis Noye 4E

Year 4 has been fun because we have been on lots of excursions and I have found lots of friends.

Eugene Smith 4E

I like Year 4 because every day there's a friendly environment, you meet new people and learn new things.

Josh Symonds 4E

Year 4 has been the most enjoyable year of my life as it has given me the chance to do things I didn't know I could do.

Mitchell Tan 4E

This year has helped me improve my maths and spelling. It has been a great experience to get better at projects and I have been able to get to know my friends better.

Daniel Souza 4E

I have had fun on excursions, especially when we went to Dunalley. I have been putting in lots of effort. It has been a fun, but challenging year.

Benjamin Clun 4E

In Year 4 I have improve a lot with maths and English. It has been very fun with lots of games to play and books to read.

Nic Rowell 4E

Year 4 as a whole made a difference by planting trees. We have followed the Hobart Rivulet and learned lots about it. We found really old rocks with fossils in them. We have had frogs and chickens.

Edward Heath 4E

Year 4 has been great as we've been on lots of excursions. Camp was good because we did lots of good things such as fishing and walking. We also played games and did cool things. We have had a great year.

Nick Lancaster 4E

In Year 4 we have been doing lots of cool things. At the end of each term we get to play the chocolate game.

Will Hughes 4E

My favourite thing has been playing the spy game and chocolate game! I have really enjoyed reading Storm-breaker. We have been on billions of excursions and have had the best teacher.

Fraser McCreary 4E

Year 4 has made a difference being more fun and enjoyable and I am now actually looking forward to Year 5!

William Lord 4E

I have liked being able to make new friends, having lots of sport time and going to Chapel.

Claude Alcorso 4E

Everybody is so nice in Year 4. I have liked this year and have improved a lot in maths.

Tim McKay

I have liked Year 4 because we have had a bit of everything. I liked the chocolate game and when Miss Edwards got a six she would scream with excitement because it meant she got to eat chocolate!

Alec Bailey 4E

My handwriting is now so much better, my maths is great too.

Richie Crotty 4E

I have really enjoyed playing with my friends this year and playing 'sleeping lions'.

Richard Giblin 4E

Year 4 has been really cool. For camp we went to Southport. We have been learning lots of things in SOSE and science.

Lucas Sims 4E

I liked Year 4 because most of the teachers were female!

Edward Williams 4E

I think school is great. My favourite part was camp. We got to fish and visit the fire station.

Wakakirri 2004

The timing was almost perfect, with exciting, seamless transitions between scenes.

James Wheller

I thought Wakakirri was great fun even if I was nervous.

Gerrad Dunbabin

I would love to do it again and I recommend it.

Nanak Narulla

I loved making the costumes and backdrops.

Ryan Ward

I really wanted a main part but I found out that if everyone didn't have the characters given them it wouldn't have made sense.

Emmanuel Marios

I got a lot out of Wakakirri. I got more confident and learned to dance. It was an experience I will never forget.

George Williams

The story, characters and music suited them very well. Rating: 9/10.

Isaac Woo

I hope that I can be a backstage person in the next year's Wakakirri with lots of people applauding us.

Max Waldon

I thought Wakakirri was cool. The costumes were 10/10.

David O'May

The story characters costumes were excellent. It really told you who they were.

Timothy Watkins

I loved my costume and hair and makeup. We had great people who helped us learn to dance. It was so much fun!

Lachlan Crowder

We learned lots of moves, and that boys can dance.

David Titchen

The first prop was a pirate ship that was very effective because it actually looked like the pirates came out of the ship.

Richard Lovell

Wakakirri was a great experience. I liked doing it blindfolded. It was hard.

Daniel Drummond

I was both nervous and happy. Hutchins Junior School had magnificent costumes.

Alex Kenworthy-Neale

After the first Wakakirri practice I loved it. On the night it was the best experience I have ever had.

Matthew Allenby

When we were in the wings on the actual night it was really scary waiting for your turn to come.

Henry West

Our costume and make up was really, really, really cool. Before we knew it, it was over.

The lights at the Casino were cool. It wasn't as scary as I thought it would be, when we performed.

Trent Darko

I have learned that I don't give in, even when it does get hard. I really liked Wakakirri.

Alec Rundle

The lost boys beg Peter Pan for a story, so, what do you know, a huge story book comes out of thin air.

Alex Brown

I liked being a lost boy because I liked the wacko hair. I also had my two best friends in that group. It is sad now that Wakakirri is finished.

Declan Martin

My first Wakakirri lesson that I remember, we all got chairs out, Jo stood on stage and did some moves, we imitated her.

Alec Simpson

Wakakirri was fun. Some bits were hard; learning the hard bits was a challenge, but made me feel good. I learned a lot about being a team player & improved my teamwork skills.

Chris Drummond

When I was dancing I felt good. I think dancing is cool.

William Hodge

We started recording; it was fun. Sometimes you would stuff up and you thought you would sound really bad, but it would end up OK in the final copy.

Charles Haward

It was pretty tough, it felt like I was going to faint for a second, but when I got onto stage, all that went away and I just danced... I feel delighted that it is now all over, but it really was a once in a lifetime experience.

Sam Keating

It was one of the best things I have done. I will never forget it. I learned that I can't put on an angry face very easily.

Wilson Mure

Some of the crew outside the Casino!

Gee, those pirates sure are BAD!

Anton

Our performance went well, it was great. Now I feel a bit sad that it is finished, but there will be more performances coming up.

Thoughts on Wakakirri

I really enjoyed Wakakirri this year. Wakakirri means "story dance". I was a ginger bread man in the story and I had great fun being him.

George Duckett

Wakakirri was great. I was so scared and nervous before I went on stage. In the end it all worked out very well.

Owen Swain

Wakakirri was cool because I did not know I could dance that well. It was a great experience dancing in front of over one thousand people.

Edward Spooner-Johnson

I really enjoyed the night of Wakakirri because I had a good time performing in front of an audience. The costumes were great. I played the part of a pirate.

Zac Pullen

Wakakirri was a big highlight because the whole Year 5 participated. I was lost boy in the story. It was great fun working with Jo and Aimee.

Waruna Karunadasa

I liked Wakakirri because I learned a lot about cooperating. I got to stand up in front of everybody and talk. I have heaps of fun performing on the night.

Callum Sinclair-Gibson

Wakakirri was one of the most enjoyable things this year. I had a good time learning all of the dance moves.

Campbell McKay

Wakakirri was fun with all of the different characters: pirates, lost boys, story characters, Peter Pan, Captain Hook, Rapperbell and the dad. I was Prince Charming from the story characters group.

James Norris

Wakakirri was a lot of fun. I played the part of a lost boy. It was wicked when we got on the stage. The crowd was huge.

Nathan Brown

Wakakirri was good because of all the attention we got. Also it demonstrates how well the teachers know the students, putting them in all the right places and giving their characters. It was very rewarding in the end which was great.

Evan Calver

Wakakirri was fun. I was a lost boy in the story. The lost boys were captured by Captain Hook but, as we all know, Peter Pan saved the day again.

Edward Thwaites

Wakakirri was a good experience. The hair, costumes and make-up was fun. I enjoyed having sugar and water put on my hair to create a lost boy look.

Nick De-Lacey

Performing on the night of Wakakirri was great. I enjoyed all of the dress rehearsals and performing for the Junior School.

Hugh Tyler

In Wakakirri I was Pinocchio. I enjoyed Wakakirri being a Year 5 event. It was extremely busy on the day of Wakakirri.

Everything about Wakakirri was awesome. Just being a part of Wakakirri was great fun.

Anton Roberts

I loved Wakakirri because it gave me a lot of confidence.

Junior School Art

Junior School students have entered the realm of art making with enthusiasm and a great desire to create. They have learned new skills and ideas, and have been challenged to look at some of their preconceptions. Does the sheet of paper always have to be rectangular and clean, or can you work on round, elongated or previously marked paper?

The students have had a very successful year exploring, problem solving and creating their own art. I hope that as Art teachers we have kindled their sense of wonderment and discovery.

Victoria & ACT stormed by Year 6 boys

On Tuesday 2 November, 46 boys and four teachers met at 5.30am at the airport to hop on a plane to Melbourne. When we got to Melbourne we went bowling, a great way to start the trip, and then enjoyed lunch at the cafeteria. We returned to the airport and set off for Canberra. The flight into Canberra was rough as a major storm hit the area. We spent two days visiting some amazing places like the Australian Institute of Sport, Questacon, Parliament House, the National Museum and the Australian War Memorial.

We returned to Melbourne and caught a bus to Sovereign Hill where we were able to search for gold in the creek, ride an olden-day carriage pulled by horses, explore an old mine and watch gold pouring.

The next three nights were spent being billeted by students from Ivanhoe Grammar School. On Friday we caught a train to the MCG. Workmen were flat out trying to complete improvements to get the oval ready for the Boxing Day Test.

We then moved on to the Imax theatre where we saw a 3D film about the Titanic while we ate ice-cream and sipped cool drinks. Later we visited the Melbourne Museum where we learned about lots of different types of bugs. We all jumped on a City-Circle tram – boy it was squashy! – then a train took us back to school. On Saturday we spent time with our billets doing heaps of fun things.

Sunday came and we flew back to Hobart. What a great time we had! A couple of weeks after our trip Ivanhoe Grammar had their visit to Hobart. This time we were the hosts and looked after them as they explored different parts of southern Tasmania.

Maria Island trips

During the first term Year 6 went on three different class trips to Maria Island.

It was really fun going to Maria Island. We got off the bus and put all our bags on the ferry then we got on and sat down. We saw the woodchip pile on the hill — it was massive. The ferry ride was about one hour. When we got there we had to put our bags in a trolley. We then headed to the cabins. Then we got into our groups and settled in. The teachers on the trip were our class teachers and Mr Dave, Mr Mike and Mr Wheelan — they were great.

Sharks, Cops & Robbers

On the first day we went snorkelling and looked at all the fish and seaweed. When we went snorkelling I saw a Port Jackson Shark. It was really cold and when we got out we went straight back to our cabins. After that we had a game of soccer and then had dinner. After dinner we all had a game of cops and robbers. The robbers' task was to run to the silos and back before the cops caught you but it was hard because they had a line of cops on the bridge. After that we went to bed.

"...the dreaded, evil, ugly Bishop..."

On the third day of the Maria Island trip we had to climb up the dreaded, evil, ugly Bishop and Clerk and look over the edge, which was an amazing view. It wasn't so bad once we got up there because we got to have our lunch and rest. We also got to go to the fossil cliffs on our way to the summit of Mt Bishop and Clerk. As well as that we took our bikes and went riding to the painted cliffs, which had some amazing colours.

Year 6 & acid proof

The highlights were the bike ride around a quarter of the Island. It was a big shock when the gas lantern caught fire. The day Michael Titchen had to sleep in a tent he grabbed all his stuff and left — two hours later he crashed through the door of the cabin swearing a possum had eaten all his lollies and urinated and defecated all over his stuff, which goes to prove how good Year sixers are at surviving in the wild.

The Maria Island camp was a great experience for all of us. Maria Island was great! When we were there I was in Cabin 4. When it was all over I felt tired but happy. I had the best time of my life and I hope that I can go there again.

TASSIE'S TOP MOST WANTED

The following information comes from one of our agents who risked life and limb to penetrate the notorious Middle School. He assures us that all that follows is the truth. However, we do need to point out that since filing this report, our agent, who so cleverly infiltrated the Mob, has degenerated into a quivering wreck and has had to be transferred to a maximum security safe house...

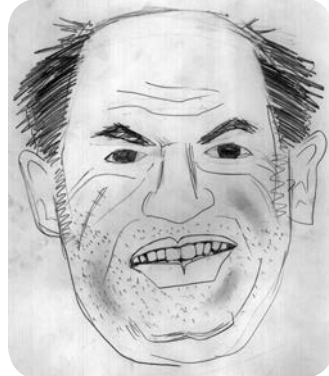

“Ma” Waters & the Sevens Gang:

“Ma” WATERS:

Disguised as a pleasant, generous and kindly school teacher, “Ma” Waters is wanted in every state of the Commonwealth by schools that would love to get hold of her to help organize their pastoral weeks, tennis, socials, SWAP days, Year 7 entrance tests and generally ensure their sevens settle into the Mob smoothly. This devious criminal leads the Sevens Gang with real authority.

“Add em Up” ADDISON:

Single-handedly and quite ruthlessly, “Add em Up” has participated in the spread of the numbers racket (He calls it Maths!) and blood sport (He calls it hockey!) not only amongst the Mob in the Middle School but in the Senior School as well. He has perfected the art of taking special interest in each member of his gang. (He calls it his Tutor Group!)

“Frenchie” COLLIS:

Long-suspected of wanting to replace English with French as the main language spoken amongst the gangs of the Middle School as a sort of gangster secret code, this heartless criminal also develops total loyalty in her own particular group of thugs, known as RCo. She is held in awe by other criminals for her money-laundering ability as displayed in her creative and meticulous organization of the Truckload under the Tree fundraising caper.

Matt “The Muso” SAYERS:

Responsible for at least two of the major heists for the year, “The Muso” was the brains, enthusiasm and drive behind the notorious “Joseph” scam, affecting the life of every member of the Middle School Mob, both children and adults. Then, he still found time to take a group of thugs on the run in another Play-on-Tour, concocted by himself.

“Burn-em” BERNEY:

Posing as a loving family man, “Burn-em” is credited with the infamous Rugby Con in which he deceived rugby teams throughout Tasmania by taking a squad of inexperienced players and secretly molding them into an efficient match winning team, while quietly doing exactly the same with his Tutor Gang. At the same time, Berney was organizing one of the all time great lost property rackets.

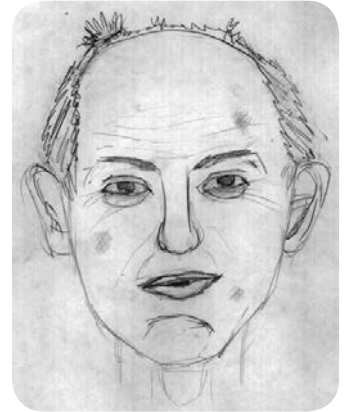

“Killer” Ken Kingston & the Eights:

“Killer” Ken KINGSTON:

“Killer” has added a dangerous new dimension to crime by leading his gang into the lucrative maritime crime area, with special emphasis on underwater work. This seems to account for much of his weekend time. Equally dangerous is the fact that it his job to train up the future leaders of the entire Middle School Mob. Such is his influence that, rumour has it, his gang members would follow him anywhere.

“Machine Gun” McCAMMON:

Make no mistake; behind that gentlemanly manner lies the scientific brain of the Middle School Mob. Any of the thugs lucky enough to be in his science class wind up mesmerized, even brain-washed by the subject. There is one chink in his armour. He is in charge of all getaway strategies for the Mob after crimes have been perpetrated and so far has only come up with getting them all to sail away.

Law enforcement authorities are now convinced that “Ma” Waters & her gang have joined forces and are working as an efficient & mutually support team with “Killer” Ken Kingston & the equally notorious Eights Gang.

“Lawless” Lance MORRISBY
aka “The Joker”:

Trying desperately to replace “Machine Gun’s” sailing with rowing as a getaway tactic, “Lawless” is in charge of keeping the parents unaware of their sons’ activities through carefully orchestrated diversions such as family-teacher conferences and course choice nights and disguising crime-planning sessions as academic extension afternoons. He is also noted for his very thoughtfully decorated hide-out.

“Kid” CONACHER:

“The Kid’s” job is to keep the entire mob fit, not only through his conscientiously conducted PE lessons but also through his patient, detailed organization of the various gang games days of swimming, athletics, cross-country and the summer sports morning. He also organizes the highly volatile meetings between the Middle School Mob and the girl gangs of Collegiate.

“Mullet” HYLAND
aka “The Ant”:

Always thinking, always planning, always innovating, “Mullet” helps “Add em up” develop his blood sport but is also in charge of getting the Middle School Mob to think laterally about their criminal activities. He is keen foster their use of IT and, in fact, all forms of technology. Just this year, he has sought to get the Mob to spread its nefarious tentacles out into the community more with his so-called enrichment program.

“Gofer” GEALE:

Another new recruit, “Gofer” has been very successful in insinuating himself into the power structure of the gang by offering to do all the dirty work. In this role, he has had spectacular success. His work as the bag man for the “Joseph” caper is just one example. He too has perfected the art of hiding behind an apparently gentle and kindly manner and by always relating to people in a pleasant, friendly way.

Reserves List for Top Wanted:

The real strength of these people on the so-called reserves list is their readiness to step in and support any member of the Middle School Mob at a moment’s notice and the fact is that during any given year they are called upon to do so many times. Their real challenge to law enforcement officers is their ability to smile in a seemingly genuine way and to provide real assistance without ever complaining or drawing attention to themselves. They are of course, Father John Goodwin also known by the chilling nickname of “The Chaplain” and “Big Al” Dear, thought by many to be the real life model for the character Tom Hagen in The Godfather.

In a stunning development, obviously in a vain attempt to receive clemency when finally brought to justice, Matt “The Muso” Sayers has leaked the following startling revelations to the authorities...

Ian “Cloak and Dagger” McQUEEN:

A lurker in the shadows, this evil mastermind works supernaturally to control the fate of both gangs. Through powers of invisibility, mind control and general trickery he plans the outcome of all criminal activity with shrewd, calculating composure. His footsteps are never heard but his ability to manipulate the gang members and hold sway over any of their recalcitrant minions is frightening.

Year 7

The four tutor groups that made up Year 7 in 2004 made a deep impression on the Middle School as they cheerfully began to seize the challenges and opportunities offered to them. The 101 boys, including 35 new students, contributed an amazing array of skills and talents to every area of school life as they did so.

We saw some outstanding achievements in the classroom; courage, determination and fair play on the sports field; many excellent performances in music and drama, and a high level of creativity and craftsmanship in the art, design and technology area. We saw some wonderful examples of leadership and service. And we watched the boys forge friendships that in many cases will be with them throughout their lives; friendships based on the qualities of tolerance, respect and affection that we, as a school, prize so highly.

The tutors (Ian Addison, Peter Berney, Robyn Collis and Matthew Sayers) play many parts during the course of the year — and often during the course of a single day!

They are teacher, mentor, counsellor, jester, banker, psychologist, lawyer, judge, critic, supporter, policeman, confidant, nurse, coach, tracker ... and they play each role with wonderful professionalism and real care and concern for the boys in their charge. I thank them profoundly for all that they do.

Year 8

At the time of writing this, I am organizing our annual step-up day where our Year 7s get their first taste of Year 8. I remember last year using the analogy of a sports team to describe how we all worked together to achieve success in the Year Group. The analogy was a good one because the parallels were endless. So here is...

The season that was...

We have our star players, our rookies and our team players who provide the steadying influence. The game we play can be difficult, the rules are tough... but fair — so too are the umpires. We all play the game every day and we practice and learn as we play.

The skills we learn help us to make friends, take on new challenges and enjoy life to the full. The rewards are success, satisfaction and self-confidence. To become a seasoned player requires years of practice. Luckily, we have an excellent team of coaches and mentors who have nurtured, inspired and motivated the players to be their best in 2004.

Of course, we haven't always won every match. There have been times when the team has failed to respond or when the game has been a little rough. Luckily, our team does well in the face of adversity and they learned from mistakes and acquired strength from set-backs. It is this resilience that has made the success so rewarding.

But like all good coaches will tell you, it's not just about winning. Knowing you've done your best and helped your team is the most important thing. Whilst the awards listed here recognize the outstanding achievements of a few, the real praise must go to all the boys who worked hard, looked after their mates and made the most of the many opportunities afforded them.

MS Literary Page

Imagine By Mitchell Nicholls

Silver scales translucently shimmering
In the morning's early light Smoke wisps from the dragon's nostrils
A sense of dread
Fills the people as the beast
Rises magnificently from the forest
Its eyes burn like the fires of hell
Its claws long and sharp like slender knives.

Wolf By Thomas Clark-Hansen

Wolf: I have to be careful hunting at dawn
I leave tracks in the frosty grass
These humans are cunning
And don't easily get lost.

Man: It is easy hunting at dawn Wolves leave tracks in the frosty grass
But wolves are cunning
And they smell I am near.

Wolf: I am hungry, desperately hungry.

Man: I desperately need a wolf head for my collection.

Wolf: It is hard hunting so far from home. Cruel.

Man: I love being out here.
Hunting makes me feel good.

Wolf: Sounds, movement.
They are the keys for a good hunt.
There, under the bare hedgerow, amongst the rotting leaves
A lame hare!
Pounce!
GOT YOU!

Man: Sound, movement.
They are the keys for a good hunt.
There at the bare hedgerow, clawing at the rotting leaves.
A wolf.
Bang!
GOT YOU!

Storm By Freddie Hamilton

Blowing
Dark grey swirly clouds
And the wind
O the wind
Gusting and busting
Over the water
Collecting the liquid
Spraying it everywhere
The waves
High as the sky
Towering with the force of a million blowing hurricanes
Rushing
Roaring
Sounds
Whistling
The engines squeal
The boat jumps
Towards the shore
Visions of blue water
White foam
Grey clouds
Thumping
Great raindrops
Pounding
Pounding
Pounding.

Beauty long past By Mitchell Nichols

Silvery, grey light casts shadows
Gravestones witnessing the decay of time
Gnarled, thorny, barren stems,
A stark reminder of beauty long past.

Autumn's litter crunching
under hastening steps
Fierce, spidery hands grip the heart
Tortured souls, howls of rage,
Menacing like a storm of hate
Harmless but tormented
In death's eternal space.

The Turtle By Alexander Hoysted

Old and slow,
Painfully, painstakingly
Dragging herself up, up, up
The beach to lay life.
Slowly, scraping at the sand
With useless, clumsy flippers.
Finally,
The eggs are laid
But being watched
Tired
The turtle turns to the water,
And Slowly, slowly pulls her weight into the water...
And is gone.
Most of her hatchlings won't survive.

Sometimes By Charles Dargaville

Sometimes I am an ant
Small Unnoticed
Alone
Feeling as if I am not there.

Diamond By Jack Boon

Diamond in the cave
Silent, hiding, motionless
Waiting to be found.

Trees By Daniel Bower

Trees sway in the breeze
From the Arctic's deep, cold breath
As light rain appears
From the wind's wet moisture spray
The trees drink their thirst.

From 'Pearce and the Thylacines' By Sam Allender

It was a dark, cold, gloomy day and rain was coming down in bucketfuls as Graceful, the mother of three pups, returned home from a morning hunt with nothing.

Graceful's pups Lonely, Shorty and Spot, the runt of the litter, were hiding in dense, impenetrable manfrens waiting for their mother to return with a decent sized meal. When the pups saw their mother returning with no food at all they were beyond disappointment.

Together the thylacine group were timid, scared, lonely animals who feared humans most above anything.

Graceful, as an adult Tasmanian Tiger, had eleven ebony stripes from the tip of her tail to the top of her neck. Her body was a faun, beige colour and she had short, soft fur. She resembled - and belonged to - the dog family, not, as her name suggested, a tiger.

MS Art & Ceramics

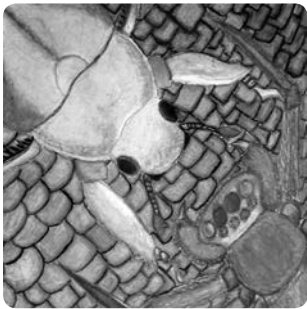

The Year 7s have only a short time to experience Art but have made excellent use of their time. They produced very skilled "Invisible Square" pen and tonal drawings and Impressionist paintings. I have been continually impressed with the enthusiasm and obvious enjoyment of all students. This was especially apparent in the van Gough mural work undertaken by 7MSA and 7IAD and the 'Microscopic' pastel/dye work by Year 8 Painting/Drawing in second semester.

The Art Department has been fortunate in recently acquiring a brand new kiln. An audible sigh can be heard every time the kiln is opened to see if the firing has successful. The work produced has been excellent.

All in all, 2004 has been a diverse and creative journey for everybody and I would like to thank all of my students for a thoroughly enjoyable year.

MS Arts Expo

The Middle School Arts Expo was a fantastic display of talent from Art, Music and Drama. As the night went on, the level of talent within the Middle School became more and more evident.

Although most of the material shown was not originally conceived for public performance, this opportunity was a superb way for boys to show parents and other staff what we learn in our arts classes. Before and after the concert, guests were able to view a selection of artwork, as pieces were proudly displayed around the auditorium. Art on show ranged from ceramics and paintings, to brilliant drawings and sketches.

The performance element comprised of music, drama, and some interesting animated films made by 7MSa plus a powerpoint presentation of artwork.

The Middle School Arts Expo for 2004 was casual yet professional; in fact those words can be used to sum up the performing and visual arts teachers at Hutchins! All who attended had a great night, and we hope to see you there next year.

Year 8 Drama

In the Year 8 Elective "Drama Production," two plays were produced for a total of three performances. They were staged at the end of November in front of extremely enthusiastic audiences.

One of the plays was titled The Do-It Yourself Frankenstein Outfit. This play was based around three different types of robots, all with varying functions, and the people who demonstrate how each of the robots work.

The other play called Shirts was about two boys who are told what they have to wear. They disagree and out of this an argument evolves. They suggest to others that they try to wear different clothes but it seems that most of them prefer to follow the latest fashion. The play ends with the two boys learning a lot about how trends are started.

A great deal of time and effort was put into these productions, and sincere thanks to Mr Geale for his perseverance, encouragement, and ensuring that the plays were a huge success.

Tim Green & James Hay
Class 8 GGe

The school's Music Department found the most amazing experience was the massed singing of the whole of the Middle School in their vigorous rendering of all the choruses in the musical "Joseph". Students and staff enjoyed sharing music with students from other schools; have been inspired by workshops with professionals; and have been uplifted by visits to concerts and open rehearsals given by the Tasmanian Symphony Orchestra.

Senior School

After another win as coach of the First XVIII and two terms of committed leadership as Head of Senior School, Chris Rae took his third long service at Hutchins in Term 3. His stand-in reports...

Performing Arts

No area of the school has been busier than the Performing Arts Faculty:

- the Year 11/12 production of Deadwood Dick delighted capacity crowds (many were turned away at the doors because of lack of room). Poor Pong Ping (Craig Irons) stole the audience's affections, while Ian Mitchell and Alex Dance, the gun toting cowboys, fired menacingly on the villain (James Cazaly) and Michael Johnstone as Judge Nix had the audience in stitches.
- the String Trio — William and Peter Clark and Thibaud Pavlovic-Hobba — successfully toured Europe by invitation during the May/June holidays.

in Term 2 we enjoyed...

- the School of Performing Arts concert featuring the newly formed guitar ensemble
- House Drama, which was won by Buckland House
- relaxed evenings of music (Thursday Night Live) in the Gershwin Room, and
- Jazz on a Winter's Night, with another capacity audience enjoying an outstanding evening of entertainment.

Two bands were entered in the High School and College sections of the statewide "TMIA Rock Challenge" competition at the Derwent Entertainment Centre. The College entry Mephistopheles was voted people's choice and consequently competed in the final — the first private school entry to do so.

Mr Bruce Cash (Head of Music) led the Hutchins Festive Chorus, combined with the School Choir, in an outstanding presentation of excerpts from Haydn's Creation in Term 3, while pre-tertiary students were faced with the challenge of performances in front of external examiners as part of their assessment. Matthew Street was outstanding in his role in Murderer.

First XVIII football premiers with coach Chris Rae (at right)

Perhaps one of the greatest turn-arounds for the year was seen in the First XVIII Australian Rules football final against St Patrick's College. Down 42 points at half time and forsaken by some of its supporters at that time because of the "hopeless" position, the team rallied, focused and won a thrilling comeback.

Sporting Success

Sport continues to play a vital part in the Hutchins experience and once again there were some outstanding results:

- the swimming team (coached by Mrs Abell and Ms DiVenuto) won two of the available trophies at both southern and state carnivals
- Mr Irons continued his success with the First XI cricket, winning the state final
- The open tennis team made the state final, with the seconds going one better — sharing the title with St Patrick's College
- The rowers completed a fine season with the First VIII leading the way with a fine Head of the River victory along with the Under 16 VIII
- Sailors, captained by Joshua Phillips, once again represented Tasmania at the national championships, and
- the school gained its best performance in surfing, led by James Eaves and Scott Lawless who gained selection in the Tasmanian team

The winter sports were no less successful than the summer program:

- senior hockey, coached by Mr J McLeod and Mr I Addison, again won the Southern Schools Championship
- Matthew Street captained a fine First XI soccer team, winning 17 games straight including the Under 19 club championship
- Alex Humphrey (captain), Ryan Foster and Freddy Hess enjoyed success in cross country events, including representing Tasmanian schools in Canberra
- Mr S Wilson's coaching of water polo saw success for the Firsts in the grand final. Jesse O'Hara and Stephen Beer also enjoyed the challenge of representing Hobart in the National League competition, and
- the first badminton team won its competition, as did the first basketball team.

Rock Challenge band

Term 3 saw outstanding performances at both the southern and state athletics. Ryan Foster went from strength to strength in the 800 and 1500 metre events. His breaking of a 33 year old record at the SSATIS carnival in Hobart, followed by the breaking of a 23 year old record in the same event at the SATIS carnival in Launceston the following week, were memorable moments.

Tristan Thomas ran 400 metres in 47.21 seconds at Launceston. This placed him among the best for his age in Australia. He has won a scholarship to the AIS for 2005. A new sport, cycling, under the guidance of Mr Michael Thorne, was introduced in 2004.

Tristan Thomas

Academics focus

Term 3 saw students focus on academics. For the first time, at least in recent years, examinations were held at the same time for all year groups in Years 9-12. Following the examinations, Year 9s had camps and a special program outside the normal academic timetable. This change to the calendar made a smooth finish to the year across the senior school. The Year 12s showed the way by maintaining a sense of proportion leading up to the Awards Assembly, the last formal function before tutorial week and examinations.

Year 12s responded well to the idea of "Finding a Common Interest": a management approach by Dick Dusseldorp, the founder of Lend Lease. Mr Dusseldorp believed it was in everybody's interest to be fair to all stakeholders in industrial relations. Consequently, he was able to complete his construction projects on time, profitably, with fair distribution of profits to all the stakeholders.

Jet Holloway and Chris Neugebauer

Year 12s took up the idea that it was in everyone's interest to finish the academic year with strong relationships between staff and students in place, while enjoying a time of celebration for the end of the Year 12s' secondary schooling. The cooperation of the Year 12s in this regard was greatly appreciated.

Mr Rae's emphasis on keeping a clear focus on academics, doing the "right thing" and "good people do something" set a solid foundation for another busy year in Senior School.

2004 promises to be one of our best years in academic achievement. It will be interesting to see the final TCE results, with a number of students well placed to score the 100 TCE points for their best 5 subjects over Years 11 and 12. Ronan Fenton, Joshua Phillips and Shavindra Wirasinha finished their internal assessments with 40 A assessments in their 4 pre-tertiary subjects in Year 12.

Two of our Year 10 students demonstrated the high level of achievement seen this year. Jet Holloway and Christopher Neugebauer travelled to Chennai, India, on 17 November to compete in the International Schools Software Competition, which required them to solve four programming and mathematical problems over a two-hour period. They performed most credibly, achieving 4th position. This opportunity came from their high placement in the Australian Computer Programming Competition in August when the problems consisted of pattern solving, deciphering coded messages, combinations and large logarithmic equations. Among Jet's many awards this year was the medal he received in November at the Grand Chancellor in the Westpac Awards for the Australian Mathematics Competition. He was the only Tasmanian to receive such an award in 2004. This award is particularly significant for the Holloway family as Jet's father Damien won a medal in the same competition in 1979. Furthermore, Mr Holloway's twin brother, Daniel, won a medal in 1978!

Vibrant Centre for Learning

In Term 3 the refurbishment of Senior School began. Starting in the Science prep room, walls disappeared, new storage and work areas materialised, all walls and doors painted in the bright yellow, blue, orange and red colours we have come to expect in the refurbished mini schools. We look forward to the ongoing work over the coming months as the tired fabric of Senior School matches the Early Learning Centre, Junior School, Centre for Excellence, Music Centre and Middle School as bright, vibrant centres for learning.

Finally I would like to thank staff and students for their support and cooperation in Term 3, making this a special time for me in my years at Hutchins.

John Overton
Acting Head of Senior School

English as a Second Language (ESL)

This year has seen a few changes in the Global Classroom: we have a new syllabus; we have had short term enrolments of junior boys from Thailand; and our staff has grown to include eight ESL-trained tutors, plus an Aide who works with a number of boys, supporting them in the classroom.

Worldly experience

ESL learning is not confined to being in a classroom. Many of the learning experiences have taken place outside, in the Greater Hobart area, taking advantage of the many activities put on by various groups. For example we have participated in the:

- South Hobart Sculpture Walk
- Hobart City Council's Harmony Day
- bushwalking around Lake Dobson at National Park
- various art exhibitions at CAST Gallery, the Long Gallery and the Sidewalk Gallery.

Pre-tertiary engagement

Two of the criteria for the pre-tertiary students is to plan activities and to work constructively with others. As a result, the students are paired up to organise whole class or whole ESL experiences designed to engage the International students in what Hobart/Tasmania has to offer. These have been most successful and the feedback from the other students has been terrific. One of the most popular excursions was a trip to New Norfolk, for a walk along the river cliffs to the Oast House, and on to the Salmon Farm. Experiences such as these are invaluable to the greater learning of all the students.

The life of the school

The students have also been involved in the Hutchins School Community by:

- participating in the annual fair
- providing interpreting services for teachers and parents with the younger ESL students in the Junior School, and
- working in the classroom when needed.

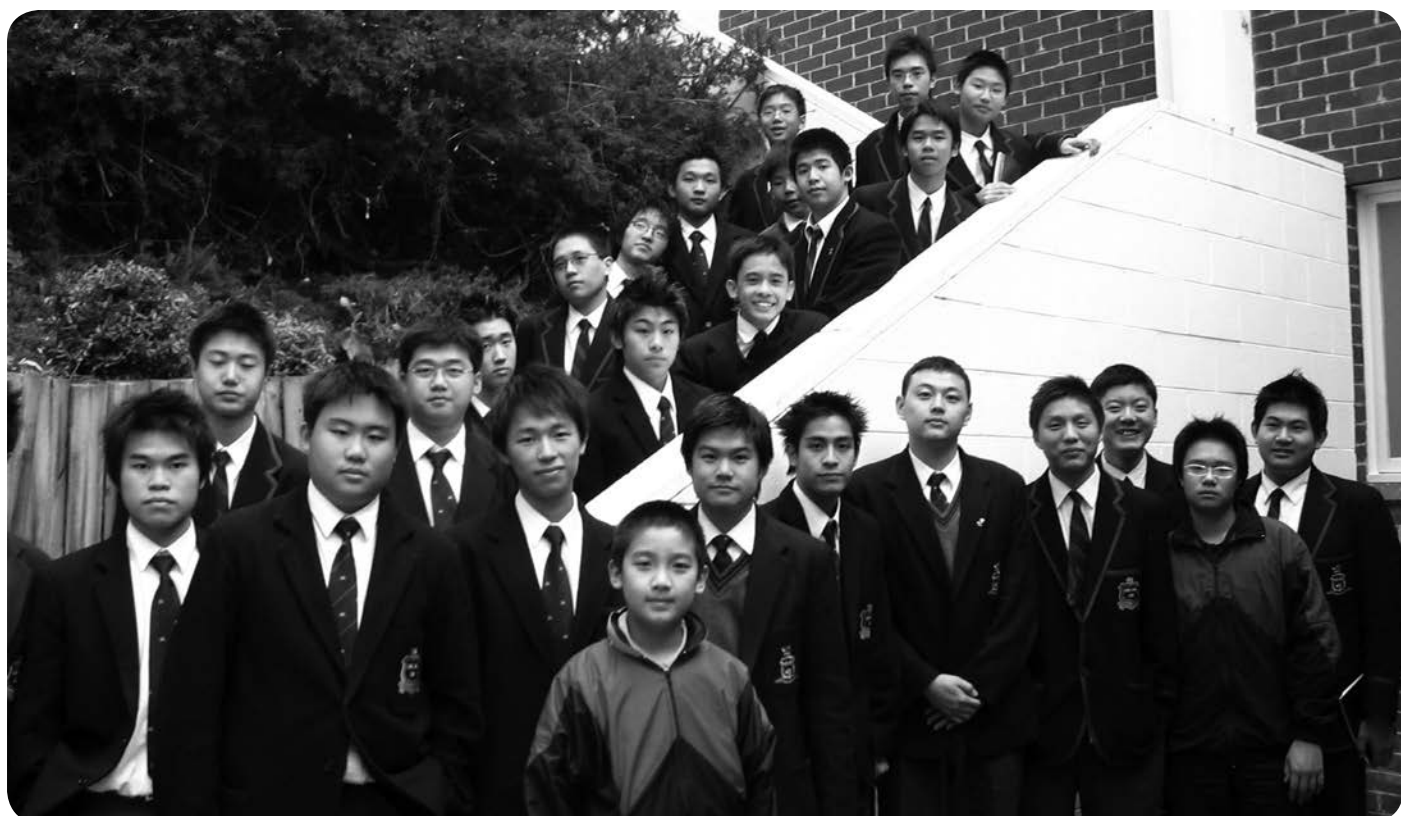

Members of the group have also helped out working with the Year 6 Trade Fair, providing cultural knowledge and making bookmarks for the students with the Junior School boys' names written in Thai, Mandarin or Korean.

I will be taking a year's leave next year to travel. My replacement—Mr Simon Moore—will be continuing to provide experiences such as these to provide the best possible Tasmanian experience for the boys, plus providing as many opportunities for Hutchins Students to learn about new cultures.

Jaqi King

ESL Co ordinator

In the ESL Department, our aim is to equip the boys with the necessary language and cultural skills to enable them to become an integrated member of the Hutchins community. By having individual ESL tutors, the newly arrived ESL students have been able to participate effectively in the classes they already have skills in. They are able to work on a one-to-one basis with a specially trained tutor to build upon their language (written and oral) skills.

Literary and Debating Society

Debating

Hutchins debaters spent a year developing new skills in 2004 as we learned a new debating format in a competition structured in year groups as part of the Tasmanian Debating Union. Membership of this organisation greatly expanded the range of our opposition and included, in the senior levels, impressive performances from state debaters.

Year 11 and 12 debaters were initiated into the mysteries of “points of information” and “reply speeches” and their associated rules, conventions and etiquette, which at times made for some amusing and spirited intellectual parrying.

Despite some frustration experienced in learning the new format, our debaters were positive about the move to the TDU competition. The steep learning curve and greater number of schools competing were reflected in our performance overall. The best results were from Mr McQueen’s Year 8 team who reached the quarter-finals and Mrs Cook’s Year 11 team who were defeated in the semi-finals. Next year we are forewarned and forearmed; we’ve honed our skills; and we hope to achieve the success that Hutchins teams from past years have enjoyed.

Poetry & Prose and Literary Competition

Talented and enthusiastic performers brought poetry and prose to life in performances this year. The winners were: Thomas Clark-Hansen and Nathan Cosgrove (Junior), William Hewer (Intermediate) and Craig Irons (Senior).

Ronan Fenton proved his versatility in both written and spoken modes by winning the Senior School section of the Hutchins Literary Competition for his piece, “Big Men Cry”, as well as the prize for Senior Orator. Thomas Ayliffe won the Senior Poetry section for “The Ledge”. Middle School winners were Samuel Allender for “Pearce and the Thylacine” (Prose) and Mitchell Nichols for “Imagine” (Poetry) – see page 55.

Ration the old to nurture the young?

This year’s Anniversary Debate between students and Old Boys had a political focus as Year 12 students Matthew Wilson, Guy Roberts and Ronan Fenton clashed with the parliamentary family of Mr William Hodgman MHA, The Honourable Michael Hodgman MHA and Mr Peter Hodgman. They entertained us by debating the topic: That we should ration the old to nurture the young. The Churchillian tones of third speaker for the Old Boys—The Honourable Michael Hodgman MHA—seemed sure to carry the day, but adjudicator—The Honourable Jim Wilkinson MLC—tactically awarded the debate to the students whose friends in the audience, he estimated, would represent more votes for the future than the combined voting power of the Hodgman family.

On behalf of all students in the society I would like to thank all coaches and competition organisers for their dedication and support during the year.

Burbury House

2004 has been a year of adjustment in Burbury House. The winds of change have swept through and the residents have embraced the new environment with great vigour. Following the departure of Nick Browne last year, Kirsteen and I have taken over the administration of the house.

over his shoulder and can only wish he had as able assistants as Sue, Di, Irene and Yi. Andrea continues to patch up our wounded and send them back into battle. Robyn and Debbie keep our house spotless and ensure that the mornings are packed with activity.

Some people find it strange when my wife and I tell them that we were married one week and had 50 boys the next. No wonder we're so tired! When we tell them that we chose to look after them, they think that we are crazy. Sometimes we agree with them.

As this is only our first year leading this community we realise that we have only just begun the journey but already we feel as though we have made great strides. Mostly, we speak of the fun times, the joy of sharing in the boys' successes and the pleasure in seeing them improve and mature.

To assist Kirsteen and I are our very capable staff. Peter and Adam continue to cook up a storm in the kitchen. Jamie Oliver is watching

We welcomed Mr Hun Chuah and Mr Michael Thorne (and welcomed back Mr Stephen Quarrell) to our Burbury House residential tutoring staff. Mr Cameron Graham joined us briefly and was a valued member of staff. Unfortunately, Mr Scott Marriott left Burbury House and is certainly missed. Our South African gap students Michael Dexter and Michael Coppinger from Hilton College, and David Hendricks from Wynberg, have guided our boys and ably facilitated socialisation.

Fine student leaders

The house was very lucky to have fine leaders in Richard Burbury and Matthew Chik. These two gentlemen along with their fellow executives set a fine example for the other boys. Their commitment to academic achievement, sporting performance and promotion of community spirit has been outstanding. They were well supported by Henry Allwright, Tawin Hengrasme and our entire Year 12 group.

Boarders continued to excel in the academic arena, on the sporting fields and in cultural pursuits. Henry Allwright, Jamie Downie and Richard Burbury formed part of the state champion First XVIII Australian Rules team; Colin Brain, Alastair Taaffe, Wai-Kay Tam, Niklas Morwind and Kersten Webber were the heart and sole of the First XV rugby team and Tasuki Nara was the point scoring machine for the First V basketball team. Matthew Chik played First Table Tennis, First XI soccer and, at the State Championships for badminton, he won the singles, doubles (with Tom Hung: Burbury House) and mixed doubles (with Vanessa Towanasutr: Collegiate).

Mountains of activities

We had an opportunity to undertake numerous excursions and activities throughout the year. We have enjoyed trips to Mt Field, The Huon Valley, Bruny Island and Bonorong Park. We have experienced the old world charm of Richmond and sailing on the Lady Nelson, and enjoyed the exhilaration of SCUBA diving, snorkelling, and rock climbing.

During our activities we may have unearthed some future sporting stars: Kenneth Wong in the Go-Carts, Benny Jeong on the Ice-rink, Luke Chik with the putter or perhaps Gab Dejanipont on the Ten-pin bowling lane.

Burbury House Cup

The boys competed throughout the year for the Burbury House Cup. The House was divided into five teams with a Master and Student captain to lead them. I was very happy to see strong, friendly competition between the groups. We enjoyed diverse activities from deciphering riddles to playing battleships, from negotiating obstacle courses to having Derwent Valley boys speaking Chinese, from trust activities to word and general knowledge games.

The teams contested over 50 games and activities and over 25 sporting competitions. Not only were we having fun, we were also communicating and socialising with our team mates and breaking down cultural barriers.

The 2004 Burbury House Cup champions were the white team consisting of: Mr Stephen Quarrell, Henry Allwright (C), Raymon Meng, Goo Viwanathatepa, Colin Brain, Josh Whittaker, James Hume, Luke Chik, Hugh Burbury and Gab Dejanipont.

Exchange student visits

The Hutchins exchange program brought boys from India and Singapore to our community. Students from Mayo College, The Dune School and Chinese High School became valuable members whilst here. We were delighted that the boys helped prepare for us and enjoyed learning about different schools and cultures.

We have thoroughly enjoyed our year and look forward to the challenges ahead. With dedication, tolerance and commitment Burbury House will become the vibrant community that we know it can be.

Visual and Performing Arts

Ever evolving, ever changing, challenging and busy is how I would describe our faculty. The diversity of skills we share creates a dynamic environment for learning.

As I look back on previous Virtus articles, it seems that every year I write about change and the creative processes involved in our faculty. What makes our area the creative hub is, in fact, the changes we promote in our students every lesson...

Music – a place where we critically listen, respond and perform different styles from different times
 Art – where we make art works to interpret and respond to our varied and shared experiences

Drama – enables us to enact and respond to real and imagined events

Students have been challenged: not only by the process of learning a variety of creative techniques; but also by major performances and exhibitions. Junior School Soirees, Jazz night, three evening seasons of performances, Arts Expo, house drama, rock challenge, choir recital and Thursday Night Live is only mentioning a few of the major activities we have staged this year.

It is clichéd to say that all students are individuals. In our faculty they really are! To challenge and develop works for students that engage them is critical. This is one of our aims. It is with excitement that I look forward to next year and working with the creative teams of staff and students involved in our faculty.

School of Performing Arts

We aim to provide students with extension in music, drama and dance – those who have displayed talent in a specialist area that is over and above what we would normally expect. SPA numbers are small because we believe that we are best able to offer a more specialised program to these students.

These gifted students will, we hope, seize the opportunities that are presented and continue to pursue their passion with rigour. Our students this year have performed in concerts, travelled overseas to perform, and competed in various competitions.

“drama gives me a chance to be someone I’m not” — Peter Sherwood

These responses really do sum up what we try to create in the department.

Mr Graeme Geale has joined the department as a full time drama teacher and I am very grateful for his support, expertise and his ability to create a vibrant, engaging classroom program.

Deadwood Dick: Michael Johnstone, Matt Street, Kevin Hofbauer, James Cazaly, Belinda Cameron Tucker

Deadwood Dick

The pre-tertiary Hutchins Drama classes combined in 2004 to produce Deadwood Dick, a pastiche of life in the Wild West. The main cast was a combination of both Year 11 and 12 students from Hutchins, Collegiate and Fahan. They were supported by resident cowboys drawn from Year 10 drama students, and Vidur and Saheel, our foreign exchange students from India.

Deadwood Dick tells the story of hidden gold, long lost daughters, evil conspiracies, love conquering all and, most importantly, good triumphing over evil. The show combined the magic of dancing girls, cowboy boot scoots and show-stopping choruses with the breathtaking special effects, daring action scenes and long, long, long, (long) death scenes to create a show that explored every facet of what it is meant by a “western”.

The experience of the veteran Michael Johnson playing “Judge Nix” had audiences rolling in the crowded isles, whilst the youngsters in Kev Hofbauer and Jules Dowson added things to the script that no-one saw coming. Alice Cooper kept the boys interested as the working girl “La Paloma” doing her own version of the can-can, whilst Craig Irons had the girls screaming his name as the festive “Pong Ping”. The production was enjoyable for both the cast and audience with full houses every night demonstrating the huge support that Drama has at Hutchins. Thanks to all those that supported the production.

Ian Mitchell
 Year 11

Drama Report

When contemplating the preparation of this report, I decided to ask some students what they thought of drama, and received these responses:

“drama is fun” — Hamish Saul
 “drama is not the usual kind of school thing because the work atmosphere is more relaxed and gives you an opportunity to think for yourself” — Matthew Morris

“drama makes you not afraid to do difficult things” — Scott Laird

Murderer

The Year 12 performance and production class staged Murderer, a very mysterious production, brilliantly performed and directed by all involved. The small cast consisted of Matthew Street, Belinda Cameron-Tucker (Fahan), Sarah Tremayne (Fahan) and Danielle Hawkes (Collegiate).

Murderer is a psychological murder mystery thriller which focused on a man and the bizarre murder games he plays. The play twists in all directions, taking the audience on an incredibly spooky and unsettling ride. This was an experimental piece of theatre in which we concentrated on producing a show similar to Alfred Hitchcock movies. With the style of Theatre-noir as our basis, it was a challenging task to create effects for the stage that we are so used to seeing on film. We effectively created the many illusions required. The eerie atmosphere created was largely due to the excellent lighting and sound produced by Nick Gregory and Tim Boys. Our Stage Manager, Will Keys, was mostly responsible for the incredible set we made and used.

House Drama

The house drama competition was a highly entertaining and successful night. As last year's competition was cancelled due to a virus outbreak, all houses were keen to strut their stuff and take out the highly prestigious trophy. As the night approached, it was expected that Buckland and Thorold houses would produce very strong performances – which they did, but it was Stephens House (directed by Nicholas Enman) who produced the upset, finishing a very strong second.

All houses had well-rehearsed and professional productions, but it was the drama powerhouse, Buckland, who finished up trumps. Their play—Innocent Bystanders—was brilliantly performed under the direction of Matthew Street, and it was a mutual decision that they were justly winners. Congratulations to the backstage crews of all houses, particularly Nicholas Gregory for his outstanding work on School's lighting.

Special highlights of the night include Josh Phillips' excellent performance (followed by Sam Kirby-Fahey's even more excellent spear tackle), Michael Johnstone's and Peter Sherwood's comical timing, Sam Stove's corny jokes and the humorous performance by James Cazaly. Well done to all of them and congratulations to all houses for their outstanding performances.

Year 9/10 Drama Production

This year's 9/10 drama production was The Middle of Nowhere. The storyline was about a group of people stuck at a bus stop, literally in the middle of nowhere. At first they think it's a tiny bit strange, even humorous, but soon after conflict is caused by a weird old man who claims he is the keeper of a Coke machine.

This was the first performance for our new drama teacher Mr Geale with the cast consisting of: Chris Morrison (Hoyt), Alex Manning (Lorry), Adam Godleman (Arlo), Harold McIntyre (Milo) and Alastair Roberts-Thomson (Old Man). We would like to thank Cameron Chamberlain, Assistant Director, and all those who came to watch.

Music

The wonderful new facilities of the Music Department are bursting with a constant kaleidoscope – often combining into a cacophony – of sounds, from early morning to every evening. As the new Head of Music, I am not the only newcomer to our excellent staff of inspirational teachers and itinerants: we have welcomed Mr David Le Guen, directing the String Ensemble and joining our team of violin teachers in our ever-expanding String program; and Mrs Pam Enniss, our very supportive and competent Performing Arts Secretary.

Students of all ages have been performing in and outside school, winning prizes in eisteddfods and passing music exams. Music classes have been bursting at the seams, with record numbers enrolled in Years 8 to 12. This has enabled us to undertake many exciting musical ventures during the year and to produce a very high standard of musicianship within the senior music classes. It has been very pleasing to see a large variety of instrumentalists in music classes interested in various styles of music – this is the key to the development of ensembles in contemporary, jazz and classical genres. Highlights of some of their activities are noted below.

The Choir has come back to life and has performed in a number of services and assemblies. A new venture was the preparation for their concert performance of a major work, highlights from Haydn's "Creation". In this, some members of the Choir had the additional experience of tackling the demanding solos. The performance was the climax of a Singing Weekend, at which the Choir was joined by the newly formed Hutchins Festive Chorus – parents, families and staff who had already rehearsed separately on a number of evenings. There was a good Hutchins Family feel about all of this. Next year the School Orchestra will join in, adding a further dimension to this challenging concept.

Mr Bruce Cash

House Music

House Music was once again a huge event for both the Middle School and Senior School. Bands from each house strutted their performance skills before packed audiences in the school auditorium and demonstrated what I believe has been the highest musical standard in House Music for a number of years. Audio Design boys ensured that sound and lighting were equally spectacular.

TMIA Rock Challenge

We were again involved in the statewide "TMIA Rock Challenge" competition, entering two bands this year into the High School and College sections. This event is fast becoming an extraordinarily huge show and this year was held at the Derwent Entertainment Centre to cater for the thousands of people coming to see the hottest school bands that Tasmania has to offer.

Hutchins was exceptionally well represented in both sections by some of our talented senior musicians who found the experience of performing in front of such a large crowd both nerve-racking and exhilarating.

Our College entry band 'Mephistopheles' was voted Peoples Choice to go through to the final and once again represented themselves and Hutchins very well. This was a first for a Private School entry to go so far in this competition and demonstrated to the community that Hutchins provides excellence in music education in all styles and genres of music.

Thursday Night Live

These concerts started up again this year and, for the first time, were held in the new music department which proved to be a very desirable location for an event of this nature. The informal evening of music was very well received.

Hutchins Show Band

Term 3 this year saw the development of this new band. This is a smaller ensemble of around eighteen players and combines vocals, strings, woodwind, brass and percussion to perform a variety of arrangements in various musical styles. The Show Band had their debut performance at the year 11/12 end of year 'Awards' assembly.

Audio Design

Our Audio Design department has also been working around the clock. Due to the popularity of the subject two lines of Audio were introduced for 2004. Our studio is one of the most up to date in Tasmania and provides a fantastic opportunity for students in year 11/12 to develop audio engineering skills. Many students have now gone on to tertiary study in this area, having completed this course at Hutchins. Our Audio Design department also facilitates virtually all school functions by providing all the necessary sound reinforcement for these events.

The Hutchins Big Band

2004 has been yet another busy year for the Hutchins Big Band with numerous performances throughout the year. The Band was asked to perform as part of the 2004 Taste of Tasmania on 29 December, providing great exposure for the Band and the Hutchins School. The Big Band also appeared as guest performers at the Fahan School's Christmas Carol evening.

The end of Term 2 saw the annual "Jazz on a Winter's Night" which showcased all the new material that the band had been working on and included a combined piece from the Fahan Senior Choir and the Big Band. Other School Based Jazz ensembles that performed on the evening included the ...

- Hutchins Jazz Guitar Ensemble
- Hutchins Brass Ensemble
- Hutchins Saxophone Quartet, and
- the SPA Latin/Jazz Ensemble.

Early Term 3 saw the Willoughby Girls School from Sydney visit Hutchins on their 2004 Tasmanian tour and allowed both bands time to combine and perform a concert at Hutchins consisting of combined ensembles – a great chance to build links between both schools.

The highlight of the year by far was taking out first place in the "Big Band" section of the 2004 Clarence Eisteddfod for the second year running. Hobart has really opened its eyes, and more importantly its ears, to the quality of our contemporary jazz program at Hutchins.

SPA Latin/Jazz Ensemble

2004 has seen the SPA Jazz Sextet morph into the SPA Latin/Jazz Ensemble, a new ensemble that concentrates on original Latin/Jazz influenced styles from Cuba and South America.

Saxophone Quartet

Next year the Hutchins Saxophone Quartet will be starting out with brand new players.

Visual Arts

Every corner of the Art area has come to life with works that engage us with their energy and strong presence.

2004 has provided an exciting time for the Visual Arts, as our student contact continues to grow. We have sought to give the Art area an internal facelift this year with the addition of bright colour to create a warm and welcoming environment.

Senior School boys have produced outstanding works in varied media. The diversity of independent creative problem solving places many boys in a strong position for future success in the Creative Arts.

Hamish Hall, Tom Friend, Charles Thomson, along with all the pre-tertiary students, have produced strong portfolios for their major exhibitions. All the matric students are to be congratulated on their hard work and determination to succeed in an area where dynamic results are sought. Their use of obscure and varied media – hebel, expanding foam, canvas, paint, pen, weaving etc – has enabled truly unique problem solving to take place. They have often resolved issues with interesting materials and surprised us with their interpretations and resolutions.

A creative future for the school is assured, with thanks to Rachelle Browne (MS) and Diane Goodwin (JS) for their strong commitment to advancing the Visual Arts at Hutchins.

Creative design

It has been said that anything which does not happen by accident, happens by design. Deciding what to wear is an act of design. Getting dressed, you create a 'look', meeting your body's needs of warmth or cold and your needs of fitting in with society. The students in the Design classes have certainly learnt to appreciate, modify and create the 'look' of an object ranging from food packaging, clothing, posters and architectural spaces.

The Year 9 and 10 classes created the image and marketing of their own Design Studio, from which all client-based portfolios are produced. This was achieved through creation of their own personalised Studio Logos which they attached to all works produced. Some exciting and creative labels materialised.

Buckland House

House Captain's Report

If somebody were to comment that Buckland came close to a Cock House victory this year, then I would say they were still selling us short. Half a point separating first and second is inconceivably close. Not only was it such a close separation, but it came down to the results from House Chess to determine this. Our eyes were fixed on victory from the start of the year. A win was not achieved but it is fair to say that we did not lose focus. Excellent dedication and commitment was evident throughout the entire house.

Swimming kicked off the year and let Bucks take out the early lead to Cock House Glory. The word "Domination" comes to mind as a just assessment of the day. Many records were broken including the much anticipated Open relay. Outstanding individual performances were witnessed on the day including Hamish Hall, Josh Erger, Richie and Charlie Gard.

Half a point separating first and second is inconceivably close

Our Cock House attempt was not all we strived for in 2004. SIDS was our designated charity, and as a venture we decided to go with the red theme and have a saveloy fundraiser lunch in the Senior School. This proved to raise a tidy sum of $1,200 for SIDS. It would not have been possible without contribution and help from many members of the house.

Infamous Kiss's...

The Buckland rock bands rendition of Kiss's infamous Detroit Rock City tore the house down and the amazing skills shown by Ben Lawless and Hamish Cashion through their guitar solos certainly impressed not only the audience but also the judges.

A triumph was achieved in House Drama this year with a very entertaining play about terrorists. Countless hours of work went into making it a success – especially in the last week of rehearsals. A well-deserved victory for Billy and the lads of Bucks.

Good times

Many good times were had throughout 2004. The House Executive worked solidly, with many members gaining the position of House Prefects throughout the year. The BRC (Buckland Representative Council) always had many eager lads ready to contribute to the running of the house – thanks go to them.

I would finally like to make a special thanks to Matt Street (Vice-captain), Mr Young (Head of House), Mr Fishburn (Acting Head of House in Term 1), Mr Crofts (House Administrator) and all of the tutors in the house. The support from these people has been outstanding and made my final year a great one.

Best of luck to the House for next year. Thorold do not stand a chance.

Buckland Executive Portfolio Reports

Competitions

This year has been a very competitive one from Bucks in all areas – we mixed it with the best to only be pipped at the post. This highly competitive manner set the mood for some intra-house competitions such as the house trivia which was won in a tight battle by MFi. With the likes of Marti and Hamish in the team, things didn't look good for the Year 12 tutor group but they managed to hold on to a slender lead to take out the highly prestigious "trivia award".

Assemblies

The assemblies portfolio has run extremely well all year. Each assembly has had a musical item or two, reports, cultural talks and other presentations. The K-12 assembly was very successful, with Mr Hudson's Karate demonstration again proving a hit. I would like to acknowledge and thank Nick Kimble and Rich Gard who have helped run this portfolio with me this year. Also a special thanks to Chris Quinn for his effort with musical items. With a lot of unexpected cancellations of items we need people to present at very short notice, and Chris has done this often. Also thanks to Kenny, Sam Lambert and Will Hewer for impromptu performances throughout the year. Year 11 boys Dennis Ng and Rob Blakesley have consistently helped set up in assembly, and Jono Manning has provided technical support on various occasions. Thanks to all these people for helping things run smoothly.

Chris Alomes

Service

This year the service portfolio of the Buckland executive has organised various fundraising activities including the Red Cross Door Knock, in which 20 Buckland boys participated. We also sold a record number of Red Noses in the annual Red Nose Day appeal.

Since the beginning of third term, 35 Buckland boys have been going to the ELC to help supervise and mentor boys in Year 1. The supervisors are mostly from Year 10, with a few exceptions, and the program has been very successful.

Extracts from the Head of House's address to the Leavers:

"...When I look back at my school days, I remember the challenges, the good times, and the successes that I had. Hopefully when you take a minute, you will look back and try to remember the humorous things, the good events and the successes that you had. In life we all can't win the prizes, but we can be satisfied knowing that we gave our best; I hope that after the exams you can say that..."

"...The highlight of this year was that everyone was having a go and trying to always do their best. Well done. My thanks to Mr Fishburn and Mr Crofts for their leadership, especially in Term 1. Thank you to all the tutors for your care and concern. To Marty and Matt, the House Prefects and Executive, thank you for all of your hard and excellent work making this year run so smoothly. Yes we had tears, but mostly we had a good time. But the best thing this year was our fantastic house spirit!Leavers, keeps in touch and remembers your mates...."

What a great year Thorold House has had. From house events to The Rock Challenge to school sport: Thorold students have been putting in 100% in and out of the classroom. Winning Cock House, just, this year was due to the efforts put in by every Thorold student. Our success this year was mainly due to the participation of students and the work done by Mr McLeod, Mr Servant and Mr Moore.

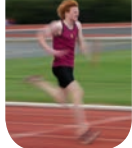

With wins in Summer Sports Day, House Music and Athletics we showed how diverse a range of skill the students of the house had. Other great performances included a second in Swimming, third in Winter Sports Day, fourth in House Drama and Chess/Debating. We also had a win in Cross Country but results were discarded due to a computer glitch making results unreliable.

This has been a very enjoyable year as a house with a large range of activities bringing the house together. The House Executive organized many activities for Thorold students to enjoy. The initiative was also shown by Year 11 students, by starting the first ever European Inter-Tutor Tournament in Senior School. Whether it was a night with Collegiate, a "snag with the boys" or a game of European Handball, boys were participating and having fun. These events allowed students of different year groups to intermingle, develop friendships and have a lot of fun.

The depth of talent and participation this year shows that Thorold House will be a very successful house in the future. This year was enjoyable and successful, but most of all fun.

David Creak
House Captain

From the Head of House

Does this count as a successful year? Yes, winning is great and the success is well deserved. However, far more important was the manner in which the success was achieved. A well organised executive led by David Creak, fantastic fun lunches, social events with our sister houses at Collegiate, tutor groups regularly visiting classes in the junior school for reading, co-operative learning and befriender activities, and a good deal of fun, support and learning occurred during house time. The tutors of Thorold House remain a huge strength with a genuine commitment, not only to the boys, but to the house.

So, as the green men reflect on the year and on the Cock House victory, they are proud of what they have achieved but they are following the principle that they need to be judged by their actions, and they always recognise and appreciate the achievements of other houses, no matter what their colour.

Jet Star

Jet Holloway (10NBr) received a medal as top Tasmanian student in the Australian Mathematics Competition. Jet also represented Thorold House, Hutchins and Australia at the Asia-Pacific Computer Programming Olympiad in Chennai, India. Jet and his team obtained fourth place.

A red blur with a green heart

Tristan Thomas (12KMo) was clearly the state's outstanding young track and field athlete this year. He broke the long standing state record for the 400m and dominated competition in that and other events. He ended the season with a gold medal in the Commonwealth Youth Games in Bendigo. Arguably his biggest achievement was to lead the Thorold team to victory in the House Athletics. Tristan has been awarded a scholarship to the AIS for 2005.

House Captain's Report

It is time to say goodbye. The end of the year brings with it a new beginning, like Winter does to Spring. The year began with a new Executive, anxiously trying to instil a unique School House Spirit. No need, the House has had the spirit for as long as I know and it proved that it has kept its unity and high spirit throughout the year. This high spirit was needed during the first few inter-house activities.

Our finest men marched on...

We were told, on good authority, that we had the best war cries and the greatest spirit. We thought it unfair to judge a House on two activities, so we gathered our finest men, all of them, and marched on to Winter Sports Day victorious. Now with heads held high from our victory, we thought it impossible to lose again.

The force had spoken. Yes, we did well in debating, won the chess and won this competition overall. Now lying tied for second in the prestigious Cock House Competition, we ran like our feet were on fire at the Cross Country; at the end of the races the announcements on positions was being made – and School House was looking very strong. Before we could cheer "we are one" the dreaded announcement that the data had been lost was made, puncturing our inflated hopes. Nearly a hat trick, I thought.

Moving on to the House Music, we fell just short of first place. The Cock House Competition was nearing the end and, desperately wanting to come at least second, we felt the pressure and didn't do so well as we hoped in drama and athletics. Our star athletic team consisting of Jared Sheppard, Jared Sheppard and Jared Sheppard all of whom ran the hundred in 10.97 seconds; the rest of the House gave it their all. Just to show the other Houses how strong we really were, we challenged them and beat them in the tug o' war. Unfortunately, the House has been shaded into fourth place overall – but the year of events has been an enormous amount of fun and hard work.

The inhumane suffering of others!

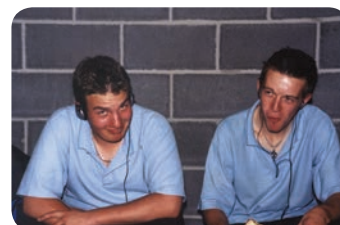

I would like to thank everyone in the House for their cooperation and high spirit, the Executive for being such a great support and for achieving so much. I would also like to thank the Tutors on behalf of the boys and Mr Webber, Ms Schafferius and Mrs Macdonald for helping us organise lunches and many other extra curricular activities.

I would like to end by saying that School House boys are gentlemen of the highest order. Remember that a gentleman is the man who seeks to alleviate the inhumane suffering of others; he is the hero to a lonely soul. I ask you one last question: 'How will you be remembered as a Hutchins graduate and what will YOUR contribution to the history of Hutchins be?'

Ross Kupisiewicz

House Captain

At the Swimming Carnival, we challenged science and with legs and arms flapping furiously we managed to finish fourth. Nonetheless, we moved on with our heads up high, keeping them above water, and promptly scored fourth in Summer Sports Day.

Head of House

As I look back on another year, I wonder how anyone, staff or student makes it through to December. We cram an astonishing amount into a year: in addition to our academic program and participating in Hutchins' teams, plays, orchestras and debating teams, we expect our boys to participate at yet another level – the inter-house competition, known since Thorold's day as the "Cock House" competition.

When I taught at a well-known Matriculation College not too far from here, the whole house system was seen as a joke and it was thought that the students at Hutchins would have agreed. How wrong my old colleagues were, as there is absolutely no doubt that the "Cock House" competition means as much to our boys as anything else they do here. But why keep it, when it puts everyone under so much pressure? The simple reason is because it is fun and it is rewarding. Every boy has a home away from home; somewhere he knows he belongs.

tutor groups provide boys with friendships and a caring adult. Even at this level, the competition can be intense – just think of the competition for the top tutor group in the "Touch Footy" competition. But it's all in good spirit and in good fun.

Thanks tutors for your wonderful work, not only for running USSR and ELC Reading and writing reports, but for helping your charges grow securely, helping them write 'sermons' and prayers for Chapel, keeping them occupied with stimulating activities after hot lunch breaks. And now, where will we find the likes of Alan Morley with his energy, hectoring and challenging, his jokes and his superb double-breasted suits? And who can possibly replace Andrew Jones, the complete Tutor with his sage advice, gentle good humour and preparedness in class for anything? And why do we have to lose Clare Tyler, just as we are coming to recognize her energy, warm-heartedness and willingness to roll up her sleeves. Jaqi King leaves us for a well-earned rest; her class has learned first-hand how a multi-cultural classroom should be run. We hope you'll be back in 2006. Thank goodness that next year we will still have the indefatigable touch footy playing duo of Pak Wilson and Tony Greve with their worldly wisdom and humour; the charm, quick wit and basketball skills of Sheree Macdonald; and the constant help and practical wisdom of that wily old mathematician, Brian Burch. Chris Berndt will be returning, refreshed and ready to run his tutor group with his gentle manner and efficiency. I will be assisted with the planning, foresight and energy that Jodie Schafferius will bring to the task of Administrator. Thank you to all the members of staff for being the wonderful 'homemakers' that you are.

Andrew Webber
Head of House

The opportunities for boys to test themselves and succeed, or fail and move on to try something else, are virtually endless.

Every boy has a chance to represent his House – look up to the top of this page and you will see 25 activities that boys can try for. Now double this figure as we have senior and junior teams. Now think that every one of these teams needs to be organized – it needs leaders, competitors and it needs administrators, so if you can't row or run, you can help stow the shell at the end of the race or be a judge on the finish line. Then there is the story to tell – where better than in an Assembly, and while we're about it, why not let a few of the musicians 'strut their stuff'?

In the home of the house system are smaller, even-more-secure homes where boys once again can learn, give and grow in confidence, or quietly sit back (knowing that they will be challenged regularly to defend their choices). The

Stephens House Executive

Stephens House Captain

2004 did not exactly go as well as we had all hoped in terms of Cock House and we find ourselves handing the flag back to Thorold. Nevertheless, the year was still a success.

Captained by Tom Friend, we won the House Football competition for the seventh year in a row. Simon Foster led us to a victory in the House Debating and under House Drama captain Nick Enman, we achieved second place in the competition, which was a pleasant surprise, especially for those involved. Furthermore, Michael Andrews' House Soccer team would have undoubtedly been victorious had they not been robbed of the opportunity by poor weather conditions.

Inter-house competition aside, it is my belief that this year saw a lot of growth in the house culturally. Throughout the year our house spirit remained and the Steves "never say die" attitude shone through. Despite our failure to seize the flag, Steves had a huge amount of fun this year. I put this down to the excellent administrative work done by the Stephens House Executive. Each member worked responsibly and efficiently and the result was more house activities in a year than I can remember: for example, Matthew Wilson's entertaining House Nights; Louis Alderdice's helpful tutorials; and Jeremy Hales impressive organisation of the Year 12 lunch, despite having little time to do so. This efficiency and responsibility seemed to extend right through the house and as a result the leadership of the house was a far easier job for the Year 12s.

I would like to thank the Year 12s for their leadership and support this year, as well as Mr Starkey, our dedicated Housemaster, Mr Symons and all the tutors — most of whom have seen the departing Year 12s through all four years of Senior School. Next year already shows great potential and I wish next year's Year 12 every success in 2005.

At the beginning of the year I asked for co-operation, working together and supporting each other as the way to maximize the collective House potential. The Stephens' Lion remains proud because of the spirit and teamwork each member brings each day. This is demonstrated through returning a lost possession, kicking the Jubb goal in the House football final (if my memory serves me correctly: James won the ball in mid-field, kicked it to Kevin towards right wing, who kicked it to Rob in the forward pocket, who kicked it through the posts!) or performing in the House play.

The academic effort was most encouraging. 2004 was the first time we win the Stephen Gumley Shield.

The many parts have all worked as a team. Each part should thank the others for the effort. The reward is the satisfaction of knowing you have tried your best. It is interesting to note that more House Colours and Guineas have been won and more Stephens Awards conferred this year than in the past. Remember: "success is achieving what you set out to do" (Psalter and Bencsik, 1982).

Computer Graphics and Design

Computer Graphics and Design continues to provide ample challenges in both Design and the application of 'high level' computing skills.

While developing their graphics knowledge and software skills students have an opportunity to exercise their initiative and creative response to a variety of design-based problem solving situations.

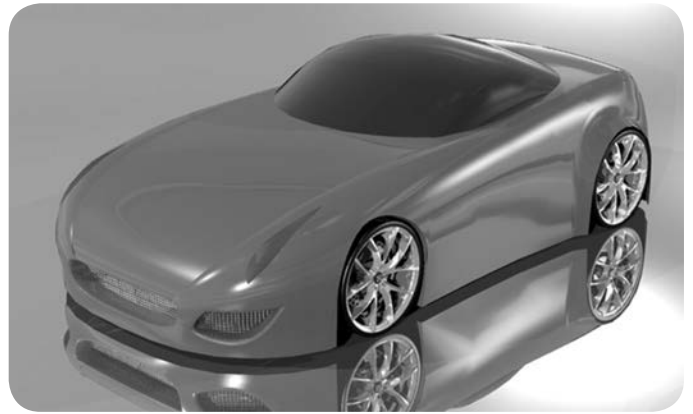

The application of the designing process allows students to exercise and develop a wide range of creative and project management skills. Working to a design brief with limitations and requirements encourages students to think outside their comfort zone. 'Setting the scene' and creating 'scenarios' provides a real world feel to their practical work.

All these examples are 2D renderings of student solutions to their own Major Design Studies. Animation was included with many of these examples. The quality of the students work enables the potential client to see design concepts in virtual reality.

Digital Smartz is a collection of works illustrating student excellence from recent years and is available on CDROM. It was launched at this year's Parent Information Evening for Information and Communication Technology. Copies are available from kmo@hutchins.tas.edu.au

Our website has undergone a tremendous change. Not only will you see a new visual front to the pages, the radical changes are 'behind the scenes' and are to do with the structure of the site and how it is run and managed.

The database driven site also enables fresh images to be loaded each time a page is refreshed or revisited. Primary and secondary navigation options assist easy use and intuitive pathways through the site.

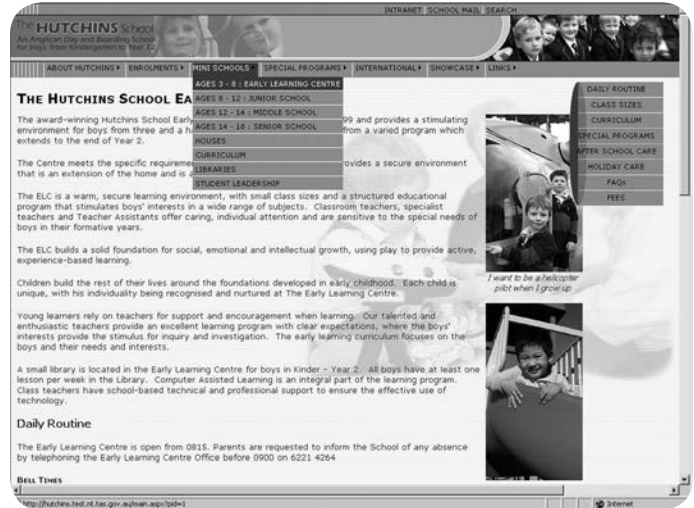

We have Flash multimedia presentations illustrating the location of our school and a small 'snapshot' overview of Hutchins. To complement the site we have a showcase that will have media rich content – starting with a selection of streaming videos illustrating the diversity of Hutchins. In time we will add staff and student experiences as well as a diverse photo gallery.

Our Web Team
 Christopher Hall, Ian MacRae, Andrew Larter, Jill Abell & Kent Moore

Mr MacRae, our Manager for Information Technology, has placed the new visuals on a fully dynamic framework which derives its content from a very sophisticated database. Keeping track of content and keeping it current is a big task. Using the latest web-based technology, management of the site will be easier and more effective.

Be sure to check out the new site in 2005 – we welcome any feedback. The team who have worked hard at planning and producing such a high quality product, all from our own resources. It will be a great asset for the school in the international arena.

Sail Training

A small but enthusiastic group of boys have embarked on their Competent Crew Certificate and nearly completed it as this goes to press. They are Red Barrett, Sam Thompson and David Ransley. The weather has generally been kind, allowing the students to experience a wide range of conditions. All have found their confidence has increased greatly as they master the skill of reefing both main and headsails in a stiff sea breeze with the accompanying half metre chop.

Two of the German exchange students, Christian Rohm and Max Andreas, have tried to come to grips with nautical lingo as they give sailing a go on a southern estuary rather than their inland lakes at home. In turn they have tried to educate us on the equivalent German expressions.

Some work will be done to update our accreditation for Introductory, Competent Crew and Skippers Certificates next year as the new Yachting Australia courses come in.

Outdoor Education

— Real World, Real Learning, Real Fun

Our facility at Southport provided a great base for the exploration of Southern Tasmania. We have...

- kayaked to islands and surfed our way back to shore
- walked to deep crystal clear bays
- sat under the spray of water falls
- snorkeled eye-to-eye with the fish, crabs and rays.

And have eaten Mexican, Italian, Australian, South African and a variety of imaginative creations.

Maria and Bruny Islands succumbed to the trembling mass of mountain bike wheels rolling, screeching and sliding. Mountains have been climbed and friendships borne.

Coles Bay has challenged students and staff as they tremble at the top of a 60m wall plummeting to the roaring ocean below. Wow ropes are strong! Dolphins and whales were seen, and so too a pair of eagles soaring on the wind.

Our boys have explored the Tasman Peninsula, Southern Forests and beyond. Some Year 3s have found crabs, fished and bushwalked to Crescent Bay. Students helped with the BBQ and slept away from home – some for the first time.

Seven students and staff have crowded into the Gingerbread Hut as a blizzard raged outside. Wet clothes dripped from the roof, a tent was pitched inside to keep dry.

A hundred sunsets seen, a thousand memories formed, and wow it was fun!

Cricket

First XI Cricket

The First XI had another very successful season. The team won the State Premiership for the third year in a row, the Southern Premiership, State Minor Premiership and the Boot!

The year started with a tour to New Zealand where we played matches in Christchurch, got washed out in Wellington and participated in an International Cricket Festival at Wanganui Collegiate School. Matches were played between teams from South Africa, New Zealand and Australia. We won only two of the five games we played, but it enabled us to do some valuable team building.

The Boot was won for the eighth consecutive year against Peninsula School with Ashley Winter being awarded the David Brammall medal for his 75 runs and four wickets.

The team went undefeated in the roster season. Many of the matches were very keenly contested and narrowly won. The season highlight was the State Final when St Patrick's College was defeated in a nail biting match. Hutchins scored 353 for 6 declared and St Patrick's were dismissed for 297. Scott Nichols top scored with a chanceless 111. Josh Parker was the most successful bowler with three wickets.

The team was exceptionally well captained by a fiercely competitive Tom Coyle. He is an outstanding wicket-keeper batsman. He was well supported by Vice-captain Matthew Lister – gifted striker of the ball and exceptional fielder. Ashley Winter won the bowling averages with 20 wickets at 9.9. Scott Nichols won the batting averages—314 runs at 34.9—and the Richardson Award, our equivalent of the Best and Fairest.

The batting relied largely on the experienced James Jubb, outstanding as an opener; Tom Coyle, solid all season; Matthew Lister, terrific at the end of the season; Ronan Fenton; Scott Nichols, technically so correct; Chris Bury, lovely driver; and Robert Jubb.

The bowling was shared by Ashley Winter, so consistent; Josh Parker, big improver; Craig Irons, naggingly accurate; Chris Quinn, good variations; Mark Fenton, exciting strike bowler; Scott Nichols, really quick when he was fit; and leg spinner Chris Bury. Ben Ferguson, Sam Lambert and Robert Sim also played in the First XI.

Thanks to Mr Denis Bishop for his terrific support and umpiring on the NZ Tour. And thanks to Jarrod Castle for scoring for us.

Second XI

The Mighty Magoos swept all before them this year, easily winning the premiership against St Patrick's College. There were some outstanding performances during the season: Vice-captain Sam Lambert scored 150 against GYC, averaged 66 runs with the bat and took 8/22 wickets during the season; Daniel Alcock took 8/35; and Robert Sim took 9/45. Captain Ben Fergusson and Matthew Street both averaged 32 each time they batted. Callum Czyz took 7/12 and Jeremy Hales averaged 28 runs. We'd like to thank Mr Morley for coaching us.

Junior Cricket

Our Year 7/8 teams were very strong, the Blacks going through the season undefeated. Students who received merits for consistently high achievements throughout the season were Tom Allwright, Alex Quinn, Will Thompson, Tim Blacker, Lucas Saunders, Angus Brettingham-Moore, Matthew Wilson and Sam Edwards.

Tom Allwright also received the award for the best Middle School Cricketer in 2004.

Emphasising the strength in our junior grades, both Year 8/9 teams were beaten only once in the eight-match season. Alex Cowles, Russell de Groot, Alastair Roberts Thomson, Edward Salter, Chris Morrison, Ellis Perry and Courtney Winter all received merits for the standard of their cricket during the year.

The Year 9/10 teams were competitive, perhaps the highlight of the season being the show-down between the two teams. The Blacks batted first and reached 5/234 after their 50 overs, thanks to Mathew De Gouveia (70), Michael Ashby (34no) and Zac Johnston (31). The Lions responded with 4/273, mainly due to a partnership between Mark Fenton (121 ret) and Ross Schreuder (81). Oliver Venettacci (32 no) ensured the victory. These cricketers, along with Tom Clark and Daniel Cosgrove, received merits for their performances.

The Year 10 team was one of our strongest ever, with Chris Bury, Craig Irons, Robert Jubb, Scott Nichols, Joshua Parker, Robert Sim and Ashley Winter all playing in the successful First XI.

STOP PRESS:

"Uni graduates another young star" was the article header under the photo of Scott Nichols captioned "PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT" - "allrounder Scott Nichols, who at only 17 has been named in the Australian under-19 team... A student at Hutchins School, Nichols won his spurs at the recent Australian under-19 championships in Melbourne. As a middle-order batsman, he made 80 against Queensland, 48 against South Australia and 36 against Western Australia. Nichols' medium-pace bowling also proved useful, his best returns being 2-30 against Victoria and 2-32 against SA.... Cross Country

The 2004 cross country season has been an extremely successful one for Hutchins, with our relatively small team making a big impact at the Tasmanian All-Schools event at Symmons Plains and at the Southern SATIS event at Rokeby.

The boys were challenged by a muddy track that undulated through the rolling hills, and weather that could best be described as 'icy'.

All-Schools success at Symmons

A small but enthusiastic group of boys made the trip North, through flurries of snow and sleet to contest the All-Schools event at Symmons Plains. The boys were challenged by a muddy track that undulated through the rolling hills, and weather that could best be described as 'icy'. The speed of the team, however, was anything but glacial, with Ryan Foster securing a close-fought victory in the U17 event, John Wilson running down his opposition to earn gold in the U14 race, and Alex Humphrey and Freddy Hess both picking up third place in their respective Open and U16 races. Through their excellent performances, all of these boys, including Peter Frank, were selected to represent Tasmania at the National All-Schools event.

SATIS success at Rokeby

Our success at the All-Schools event boded well for the Southern SATIS competition at the Rokeby Police Academy, where Hutchins fielded a considerably larger team. The course was predominantly flat with a one long climb offering competitors the chance to put the hurt on their rivals. Ryan Foster impressed all with his dominating performance, taking the win and the age group trophy in the U16 race, making his move at the top of the climb and the descent that followed. In the same race, Peter Frank shrugged off his competitors to take third.

Alex Humphrey and Freddie Hess battled strongly against their SVC rivals to achieve second in their respective Open and U15 races. Middle School athletes John Wilson and Tim Graver ran excellently, with John surging from mid-pack to finish second in the U13 race whilst Tim was the best placed Hutchins boy in the U14 race at tenth.

The entire team performed outstandingly on the day. Indeed, five of the top ten places in the Open Men's race and four from the top ten in the U16 race were taken by Hutchins boys. These efforts resulted in the Hutchins cross country team being awarded the senior team boys' trophy, the boys aggregate trophy, as well as the college boys' trophy. The boys would like to give an extra special thankyou to Mr Max Cherry for offering so much of his time and considerable expertise to help them achieve their goals.

Hamish McGregor

Australian Selection for Hutchins Goalie

Hamish McGregor was selected in the Australian U16 Team after a very successful U16 Australian Championship. Hamish has been an excellent performer for the school and has been the secret of much of the success of the Hutchins Firsts in recent years

A tremendous year for the Firsts — while they were not able to clinch the Independent Schools Premiership in a very close three-way competition, the First XI Hockey team was able to win the Southern All-Schools Premiership after a solid season and a fantastic finals series. Emphatic wins against Friends^r in the semis and Guilford in the Grand Final (3-0) capped a great season.

Hamish Hall was a strong, inspirational captain, and with determined vice captains Richard Gard and Alex Hunnibell, provided a good leadership team for a well-balanced side. The team was boosted this year with the inclusion of German international Max Karaenke, and it was evident that a number of younger players were inspired by observing his hockey skills.

The Luck of the Draw

Some of our teams were not able to play in the finals series because of ground closures and poor weather. When the rains came and important games — including finals — were cancelled, Teams 3, 6, and 7 were all left wondering what might have been.

Year 9-10 Team

Hamish Hall and Jack Viney were excellent coaches of the Year 9-10 team. In what was a challenging division there were stand-out performances from Ted Stoklosa, George Holgate and Nick Murton. The skilful play from promising Year 9 player James Peters was also a highlight.

Season of the mighty 5s

Father John says, 'They were fearless, goal-hungry, hockey-savvy and fit — but not every week, and not always at the same time! Our very best game was against another Hutchins side, when we shocked everyone, including ourselves. We had fun together, and knew how to celebrate the many good moments!'

Hutchins 6

2003 premiership coach Mr A Hyland was well on the way to moulding another group of mostly Year 8 lads into potential grand finalists when a run of poor weather intervened. With the semi-final day washed out, his team was cruelly denied a meeting with arch-rivals New Town High on the season's final day. With only one narrow loss during the roster season, the team was well balanced: strong defence from Sebastian Bender, Marc Cayzer and 'keeper Luke Wilson; an effective midfield including Tim Green and Alex Smith; and creative attackers Robert Foster, Callum Weeding and Dougal Middleton.

Hutchins 7

The strong Year 7 team was well coached by the experienced Mr Joe McDevitt. It included representative players Ed Pascoe, Tom McDevitt, Cameron Willis and the versatile Darren Freese, while Ross Giblin was a skilful presence. The season was relatively successful with great improvement shown by many boys, James Lord being among the most notable. But for the poor weather, this side would also have been likely grand finalists.

First XI at Grand Final

The Seconds prove to be finals experts

Winning only two of their roster games, the Seconds were not fancied to win against the top team, Friends^r in their semi-final. But, saving the season's best for the finals, coach Nick Warren prepared his squad beautifully and they defeated Friends^r in a nail-biter. They went on to draw (2-2) with Elizabeth College, a game they had to win to be premiers.

This was another tense encounter and despite James Cazaly, Andrew Carolan, Joe Dyer, Dean Lovell and Luke Burgess throwing everything into the game, and Zac Davis playing one of his best for the season in goal, they were not able to grab an extra goal to take the premiership.

Hutchins 4 – so close

A team of mostly Year 9s raced ahead of all opposition during the roster season. Coaches Tom Ryan and Nathan Street from the First XI deservedly had the boys turning out on Grand Final day. A match of drama saw Hutchins contrive to miss all of their many goal chances, while SVC scored from one of its few, to snatch an unexpected victory. Many boys made valuable contributions over the season, but it was midfield driving force Will Fehlberg and towering defender Alex Willows who showed greatest consistency. Will Sexton made a successful return to hockey after an extended break, and goalkeeper Liam Street from Year 8 received the prestigious Carolan trophy for Middle School hockey.

Hockey is healthy

Many boys were chosen to represent the south in Under-age carnivals at all age levels, while the following boys were chosen to represent the state: Tom Ryan U16, Laughlan Hall U16, Hamish McGregor U16 & U18, Max Karaenke U21, and James Peters U15. And of course we really appreciate the hard work put in by coaches, and the fantastic support of parents. This all makes Cornelian Bay the place to be on a Saturday morning in Winter. See you there in 2005!

Rowing

The 2003/04 Season was our most successful in recent years, culminating in a clean sweep of crew boat races in all Age Groups at the Head-of-the-River Regatta, held at Lake Barrington in April. Most importantly, our successes were due to a 'great team effort' from everyone involved with the Boat Club.

Under 13s

The U13s performed with distinction throughout the season and featured in the placings in virtually all events in which they competed. Sam Hookway and Tom Reid performed admirably in the many single scull races and many other boys showed great improvement in these events as the season progressed. The Boat Club and the boys owe a vote of thanks to

A clean sweep of crew boat races in all Age Groups at the Head-of-the-River Regatta.

Head Coach of the U14 Group and Keith Stove, along with Richard Crawford and Andrew Stewart, supported him.

Under 15s

Daryl Balding once again did a fine job as Coach of the U15s. All boys were given the opportunity to race in singles, doubles and quads and developed their skills and fitness as the season progressed. Our number one quad of Eddie Morris, Daniel Causon, Michael Theordore, Tim

Jason Nichols, Reinhard Hemm, Pete Sherwood, Ted Stoklosa, Alastair Sayers and Scott Laird kept the Hutchins winning streak well and truly intact, taking it to five consecutive U16 eight titles at the Head-of-the-River Regatta.

Open crews

Because of the great level of enthusiasm within the Club we retained a large group of U16 and Open rowers to bolster our ranks of senior oarsmen. For the first time in a number of years we were able to form a Senior Development Squad which mainly concentrated on the Senior Eights Races, but which also competed with determination and commitment in many other events, in all boat classes. Who better than Lance Morrisby to lead a squad of enthusiastic and determined rowers minds we were pretty well placed, but the first TRC Pennant Regatta gave us a real reality check.

Suddenly we were back with the pack with many serious rivals to contend with. Russell and Ron threw down the challenge, up went the training intensity, and gradually we got ourselves into a position where our true potential was starting to emerge.

In the final week leading up to the Head-of-the-River, our confidence started to build, and we were able to triumph with a convincing win against the odds. The sense of satisfaction was fantastic and we knew then that the pain and effort was worth it.

In conclusion it is important that on behalf of all the rowers I pass on our sincere thanks to the many parents who assisted us through the season. Our successes were the direct result of a fantastic Team Effort. Thanks in particular to Mrs Stove, Mrs Creak, Mrs Chong and the tireless workers in the Supporters of Rowing, also to the Management Committee and Ian Anderson for keeping the club running smoothly and once again a huge vote of thanks to Ted McCulloch for giving us tremendous back-up and support with equipment and maintenance.

It is important to note that the U13s also enjoyed some great assistance from many of the senior oarsmen from the U15s, U16s and particularly the First VIII.

Under 14s

The U14s also enjoyed considerable success on the water, especially in the Quad events. Our number one quad of Alastair Glass, Sam Edwards, James Creak, Nathan Cosgrove and Graeme Wertheimer won several Division 1 events, the most important of these being the Head-of-the-River Regatta. Roger More showed great leadership as Stoklosa and Jack Johnston won the Division 1 race at the Head-of-the-River Regatta. There were also some fine individual performances from Alistair Chong, Eddie Morris and Daniel Causon.

Under 16s

Bill Ayliffe, with the assistance of Jim Andrews, guided the development of our U16 boys throughout the season. They enjoyed great success in a range of events at numerous regattas. The entire squad developed a fantastic team spirit as the season went on, and became an unbeatable combination in the eight, with convincing wins in All Schools' Regattas. When the First Eight Squad got together for its first training session in September 2003, no one knew just how big a fight we faced to defend the 'Head-of-the-River Title' from the previous season. Once again we had the services of our highly credentialed coach, Russell Hookway, and our fitness coach and mentor Ron Nylander, four oarsmen from last season's crew, six members of the winning U16 crew and a brand new eight, courtesy of Mr Toppin and the school. Spoils of victory

Rugby

Hutchins Rugby has had another long and successful season with all three teams making their respective grand finals. There were also a large number of players selected to play for the state in all age groups. It was also the first time in two years that the U18s have played a King of the Mountain match against Hobart College.

First XV

The First XV had another extensive season, beginning with training for the tour to Melbourne for the Xavier Sevens Tournament. The team was very inexperienced in playing sevens, with only three players having made the trip previously. This did not affect the way the team played even though we were put in the hardest pool of the competition. We drew our first game against Brighton Grammar, who went on to be runners-up; narrowly lost to Scotch College, who were the previous year's winners; and soundly beat the hosts of the tournament, Xavier College.

This gave us a great start to the fifteen-a-side season and although the team was relatively young, especially in the forwards, we made great improvements as the season went on. We beat every team in the competition at least once, except for Taroona, whom we had to play in a semi-final for a place in the Grand Final. This game was played more on water than on any grass and through sheer determination from every player, we held on to draw 5-all, even after their last minute penalty attempt from in front of the posts went wide. This meant we were to play Tamar in the Grand Final – also a rematch of last year's finals. Unfortunately we lost to a bigger and more experienced side, but the team played exceptionally well and never gave up until the final whistle.

Another highlight of the year was the King of the Mountain game played at the university oval. This year the trophy was renamed "The Olly Wilson King of the Mountain Trophy" in memory of the Hobart College coach who passed away a few months before the game was to be played. This was arguably our best game all season as the forwards again played well above their weight against a much bigger opposition and our backs were given plenty of ball to score some brilliant tries in the difficult conditions.

Under 16s

The U16 team had another solid season and again finished on top of the table. As they were minor premiers, they only had to play one preliminary final, which was against arch-rival Taroona. They held on to win that game by the narrowest of margins, but as fate had it, Taroona beat Tamar in the semi-final to set up a rematch in the Grand Final. This game was very exciting as both teams were locked at 5-all for most of the game and in the end the game resulted in a draw. Hutchins were awarded the Premiership as they had scored the first try and had also been on the top of the table.

Under 14s

The U14 team played well throughout the year and although they were rather inexperienced, they pulled off some great wins, especially in the semi-final with a try in the last few seconds sending them through to the Grand Final. It was here that they played Glenorchy and, although they lost, will benefit from the experience and hopefully win it next year.

Hutchins Rugby would not have had such a good year if it wasn't for the efforts of all our coaches and support from the parents. Mr Webber, tireless in his efforts, again coached the Firsts to another Grand Final. Thanks also to John Devine and Phil Stary for their support throughout the year.

Mr Rob Wilson and Terry Kirby-Fahey coached the U16s and repeated their efforts of last year to bring home back-to-back premierships. The U14s were coached by Mr Berney supported by Chris Lawrence and numerous U18 players. It was because of our coaches that Hutchins Rugby did so well this year and on behalf of all the players I thank them for their commitment and wish them all well for next year.

Sailing

Hutchins had another very successful sailing season. We competed in the Schools Sailing Regatta at the Royal Yacht Club in April, and at the State Team Sailing Championships at the Mersey Yacht Club at Easter. Both our A and C Divisions won their after school pennants. We have a number of very good sailors in the Middle School, coming up through the ranks.

National Titles – Goolwa, Sth Australia

Report on the National Titles at which Hutchins represented Tasmania

Goolwa, South Australia, at the mouth of the Murray River, was the venue for the Australian Schools Team Racing Championships in July.

The seven team members—Josh Phillips, Nick Jones, Blair Spaulding, Will Keyes, Matt Graney, Michael Sorrell-Saunders and Elliot Noye—were accompanied by coach Murray Jones and manager David Genford. We drove the Spirit sea-road in the school's bus and then the 720 km from Melbourne to Goolwa.

We arrived to be greeted with rain and strong south-westerly winds. We had one practice session in most uncomfortable conditions, but we were satisfied with our form and then took the remainder of the day off to have a look around Hindmarsh Island.

On the first race day the rain and wind had eased but it was still very cold. The boys were a little unlucky in a couple of early races when close umpire calls went against them but at the end of the day, we were in fourth spot on a very close leader board.

Twelve teams were competing in two pools with pools being re-allocated at the end of each round-robin. There were to be no finals so it was imperative not to get too far behind.

On day two the wind increased again and our boys sailed beautifully. They were one of the lightest and youngest teams there, but their boat-handling on that day saw them go through undefeated for the day and be placed equal first on the ladder, but still with six teams which could win. The day's racing was eventually abandoned just as we were about to race the eventual winner, Cranbrook, from NSW.

The re-sail the next morning was sailed in the lightest and trickiest breeze of the regatta and unfortunately our boys did not adjust as well as Cranbrook. Their confidence was dented a little by the loss and we then went on to lose to Hale School (WA) and eventually finished fourth overall.

It was still a good performance, but I know the boys who were part of the winning team on the two previous years will recognise that this was a championship which got away. We went into the event as favourites and maybe felt the pressure a little. We're certainly keen to have another crack in Perth next year.

Despite our disappointment this year, we should not lose sight of the wonderful record Hutchins has in this prestigious event. Hutchins has become the first school in Australia to represent its state at 11 consecutive national titles. More than 300 schools from around Australia sail at regional and state level for the right to sail in this event – so I guess fourth is not so bad!

Thank you to the school for its support for sailing and also to all those who supported fund-raising functions which enabled the team to compete at minimal individual cost.

Badminton

Badminton is a game of great speed and acute skills, as demonstrated by all Hutchins players this season. The 11/12 roster consisted of three Hutchins teams (the Firsts, Seconds and Thirds) and The Friends' School. The Firsts team—Matthew Chick, Chris Cox, Tom Hung, Ramanan Daniel, Sam Forbes & Arm Sukjit—won the 2004 College Boys Badminton Roster by winning a thrilling final against The Friends' School. Dennis Ng and Prashant Ojha played in a College Mixed team with St Mary's, and became runners-up in their division.

The Year 7-10 teams performed particularly well this year, with many boys improving their skills in the game. The Year 7 team played against St Virgil's College in the final and won, after having lost to them in the previous week. The Year 8 team also reached the finals against Geilston Bay but sadly lost against the tough competition. The Year 9A team came close to winning their division, but unfortunately lost their semi-finals to Kingston. The Year 9B team luckily reached the grand final by forfeit but lost against a tough Friends' School team. The two Year 10 teams did not make it to the finals but nevertheless all players developed and improved their skills in the game.

Many boys and teachers this year participated in the extraordinary staff verse students competition for the Broken Racquet Trophy. This year the staff team was down in numbers and some boys had to fill in. The boost caused quite a tussle but everyone saw the match through and played like men. The staff finished the competition with the trophy in their hands, but according to the boys, it was only because the staff had help from the students.

The overall response from the Badminton players this season was, 'It's been fun' and this is thanks to all participants in the Southern Tasmania Badminton Association roster, and to our supporters and most importantly our coaches – Mr Starkey, Mr Berndt, Ms Schafferius and Mr Hudson.

Soccer

First XI

By Matthew Street (Captain of Soccer)

This year has been extremely successful one for the First XI. After an eight week pre-season schedule, the team was primed and ready for our Melbourne trip. Almost as soon as we touched down at Tullamarine airport our very heavy game schedule started. We were due to play five games in five days and although we only won our last game, that did not stop us playing some quality soccer. The Melbourne trip was used as a selection process so we returned to Hobart with a fully fit and fired-up side ready for the massive 22 game season ahead.

We were aligned with University Soccer Club and took their place in the Under 19 Southern Tasmanian club competition. Regrettably our pre-season trip left us unable to play our first game, so the U17 side filled in and unfortunately lost 12-1. To the team's credit, from then on we won all 18 games and came from the bottom of the ladder to 10 points clear on top. In those 16 games we conceded only nine goals to our conquering total (we lost count!).

SSATIS Competition

Along with the U19 League we were also a part of a separate SSATIS competition played on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons. This was played between Friends' Guilford Young and ourselves and we were keen to carry our winning form into this competition. In our first game against Friends' we unluckily went down 2-1 after Friends' scored in the dying seconds of the match. After our first defeat for the season we were keen to bounce back, which we did, beating a very physical GYC side 2-0. Our hopes of making the state final rested on our second and final game against Friends'. Disappointingly, history repeated itself and we lost 2-1 again, thus ending our SSATIS season.

Thanks go to Alec Balcombe and Bromley Farquhar who played with us during the SSATIS season and did an outstanding job. Also special mentions must go to Nat Menzie and Josh Phillips who both played with us in the U19 league. Despite the losses to Friends' our spirits did not dampen and we remained focused and dedicated to our original and major goal of winning the U19 League.

Thanks also to Colin Buxton, Rodney Hill and Michael Street for running the lines this year and a huge thank you to our team manager, John Sheppard, and of course the coach of the First XI, Dale Itchins.

Under 17s

by Pete Mulcahy (Captain)

The U17 soccer team had a successful season in 2004. Although we did not finish on top of the ladder, we proved to our opponents that we were definite contenders. Going into the season with little pre-season training the team was quick to realise the immense amount of potential we held. Dedication from all players and expert coaching saw the team lift its game in all areas of play. We improved our skills every game but, most of all, started playing more constructively as a team.

Oliver Venettacchi

Ben Backhaus

Drawing with the top side on our last two encounters showed how far we had come from the first time we played them (7-0 loss). Our back line was held together by Bromley Farquhar, whose courage in the air and ferocity towards the ball was unmatched by any player in the league. Craig Irons and Charles Stoessiger were the backbone of our midfield, setting up many goals. Steven Eddington's amazing pace was unmatchable and Steve often found himself netting a few goals. Much thanks to our dedicated coach Mr Hoskins for the tremendous effort put into our success and also to the players for their dedication and commitment to the team.

Under 16A

by Red Barrett and Peter Frank

Even though the team did not have the greatest success during the year, we enjoyed good coaching, strong team spirit, good parent support and endured many hard-fought battles. When we did win, it was sweet success. Thanks to our coaches, Matt Paget and Guy Williams, our parents for getting us there, and the team for their commitment and spirit.

Under 16B

by David Owens

2004 ended up a relatively successful season, in comparison to our performances earlier in the year. We lost our first game 8-1 to Friends' and we thought it was going to be a long season. Enter Rowan Ashby, our new coach, coming into our team after two games, which were both losses. He took our squad and started to slowly build our skill and fitness levels.

By the end of the season we were probably one of the best teams in the competition. This was demonstrated with our final game for the year against the old enemy, Friends' We started well with two early goals, and went into half time with the margin still that. Almost as soon as play resumed Friends converted a free kick, but another two goals to us quelled their comeback attempt. We finished the season mid table, with three wins and two draws – all were very happy with our performance. Jacob Wilson won the best and fairest award and Tristan Baker the coach's award.

A big thanks to Rowan, all the parents and also to the A team players who occasionally filled in for us. Thanks also to Mr Browne who made the season run so smoothly.

Hutchins U16B

Hutchins continues to enter competitive and conscientious teams in the Southern Schools roster competition.

Congratulations to our Division 1 team of Lars Becker and Robert Pascoe who defeated the Friends' first team for the first time in the Grand Final. Lars completed the roster undefeated and Robert showed his potential in the final by winning against a higher ranked opponent.

In Division 2 Hutchins Black (Daniel Port, Matthew Bradley, Nathan Grey and Jonathan Tennick) were runners up to MacKillop College. In this division Hutchins Gold (Adam Godleman, John McQuillan, William Chandler) came third.

In Division 3 Hutchins Black (Jack Saffin, Matthew Spillman and Andrew Bourke) were runners up to an undefeated all-girl team from Clarence.

Surfing

This year has been the most successful yet, despite some changes this year in surfing. For example, the Bodyboarders have seen a demise in competition surfing and now seem destined to be classed a pastime rather than a sport. Hopefully, the Australian Bodyboarding Championships which will be held in Tasmania this year will inspire some locals to form an organisation. Toby Crichton and Alastair Jevtic are competing at these championships.

The highlight of the season has been the selection of Hutchins as the College representatives for the 2004 Australian School Surfing Championships. As I write this article, James Eaves and Scott Lawless are in Victoria, on Phillip Island, competing in the Nationals.

Road trips

Our road trips continued again this year. We journeyed to Marrawah for the West Coast Classic and Scamander for the East Coast Classic. A total of five days of surfing some of Tasmania's best locations was a great experience for us all. All boys surfed well but more importantly, had a great time and did themselves and the school proud.

The School Championships were another opportunity for our boys to exhibit their improvement. Hutchins posted its best ever results placing in the top five in all divisions entered. Best results were from Scott Lawless who came fourth in Tasmania at Open College level and from James Eaves in High School Division 1. Many of our first team surfers progressed to semi-finals, helping us to second place in College Surfing.

Inspiring grommets

Another bonus this year has been the Junior and Novice competitions held by the Clifton Board-riders. These competitions are reviving surfing as a competitive sport and have seen some of our grommets inspired to take up surfing rather than more traditional choices. In fact, we aim to recruit another five or six competent surfers from Middle School for next year's season after some excellent performances at the recent Middle School House Surfing. Watch out for names such as Sean Bradley, Rob Foster, Jarrod Castle, Elliot Noye and Brendan Fahey.

James Eaves was our best performed surfer this year. As well as being in the State Team, he recently came second in the Red Herring GromSpree. This was an excellent achievement in one of the strongest Junior fields ever seen in Tasmania. Toby Burgess, another Clifton local, should make his mark in the state round next year as he continues to improve rapidly.

The competitions were over long weekends and the team's behaviour and sportsmanship were exemplary. I look forward to next season very much.

Swimming

Continuing a tradition of depth and strength in Hutchins swimming for the past six years, individual and team swimming achievement was again demonstrated at the 2004 Southern and State Independent Schools' Swimming Carnivals. The School won the Junior Boys Trophy and the College Boys Trophy, and gained a close second place to Friends' winning place for the Aggregate Schools Trophy in both Carnivals.

Highlights in the State Carnival included the thrilling wins in the Boys U16 Freestyle Relay and the U16 Medley Relay by Charles Gard, Tom Madden, Michael Egan and David Gardner. Again, Hutchins had a winning team in the U14 Freestyle Relay with Benn Butterworth, Toby Crichton, Alastair Glass and Chris Walch. Charles Gard and Benn Butterworth achieved firsts in the 50M Backstroke, Nick Robson in the 100M Freestyle and 50M Backstroke, and Alastair Glass in the 50M Breaststroke. Henry Williams, Dougal Middleton, Simon Hay and Marcus Davies achieved second place in their Freestyle Relay events. Hamish Hall, Richard Gard, Clifford O'Hara and Jesse O'Hara (Southern) and Nick Stebbins (State) formed the teams for very strong, exciting and courageous swims in the Open Freestyle and Medley Relays.

Beyond these Carnivals, Hamish Hall, Charles Gard, Rory Middleton, Alastair Glass and Nicholas Cannell represented Tasmania in the Australian Schools Swimming Championships in Brisbane in May.

Alastair Glass was the recipient of the prized "J S Anderson Cup for the Most Improved Swimmer in the Senior School" and Charles Gard was the recipient of the "W A Webster Prize for the Most Improved Swimmer in Middle School".

Thanks to Coach Ms Lisa Di Venuto, to the Captain of Swimming Hamish Hall, and to the Vice-captains, Richard Gard and Clifford O'Hara. They lead the team through the carnival season of swimming training prior to the two SATIS events, helping with team selections, stroke improvement and training sessions.

Table Tennis

In Term 1 eight teams entered the Schools competition. The most competitive team in Division 1 was Hutchins 1 – Andrew Cameron, Elliott Davies, Martin Kwok and Frank Lo. And the most successful team was Hutchins 7—Sam Allender, Max Hutchins, Matthew Sansom and Sam Polonsky—who finished top of Division 3.

Four teams entered the Open competition.

Hutchins 1—George Gu, Yaro Sakov and Matthew Chik—found the competition in Division 1 very tough.

The most successful players in Division 2 were Andrew Hutchens and Lars Becker.

In Term 3 eight teams again entered the Schools competition:

- Hutchins 1 performed very well, running second in Division 1. The outstanding player was Martin Kwok, who only lost one match all season, and German exchange student Nick Morwind.
- the best performed player in Division 2 was Rhys Escott
- in Division 3, Hutchins 5 played fantastic table tennis to finish top. The team consisted of Daniel Jones (undefeated through the roster), Sam Allender, Matthew Sansom, Sean Chamberlain and Jeremy Blin
- in Division 4, the most improved team of Ben Lea, Marcus Johnson, Max Hutchins and Jeames Bone finished third.

First IV

The Hutchins Firsts for 2004 were Ed Bouchier (Captain), Jeremy Court, Shaun Thomas and Jack Saffin. During the season Kirk Stewart also filled in.

The Southern roster was keenly contested between Friends 'and Hutchins. Friends' won the first two matches on a games countback, after the sets were tied. This meant that the winner of the southern roster would be decided in the final round, with Hutchins having to win by 4 sets to 2. This was achieved, with singles wins to Ed (10-8 in a tie-break), Shaun and Jack and a doubles win to Ed and Jeremy. A great team effort.

The State Final was against two-time winners St Patrick's College in Launceston. Shaun and Jack at lines 3 and 4 both faced much older and stronger opponents and, despite giving their best, went down in straight sets in both the doubles and singles. Ed and Jeremy had a very close tussle in the top doubles, eventually losing in three sets. Overall, St Pats had too much strength and depth winning the match five rubbers to love, with Ed's singles the only rubber not played.

Second IV

The Hutchins Seconds of Kirk Stewart, Charles Thomson, David Ward and Charles Stoessiger (Captain) also had a very competitive southern roster. As with the Firsts, the main rivals were Friends, who were the only team to beat Hutchins. However, the overall consistency of the Hutchins side saw Hutchins claim the southern roster premiership.

The Seconds also faced St Patrick's College in the State Final. This was a very close match and the result was not decided until the last game of the last set of the last rubber. Hutchins started well with a win in both the first and second doubles. However only David Ward, playing magnificent percentage tennis, was able to win his singles. Great efforts were made by Kirk Stewart in his singles, down 2-5 in the second, but able to win two more games before losing the set 4-6. The same with Charles Thomson, down 1-5 in the third, but he also was able to scramble two more games before losing the set and the rubber.

The eventual result was that the match was tied, with both teams scoring 3 rubbers, 7 sets and 63 games. St Pats had an older and more experienced team and probably should have won. However, the Hutchins boys played out all their rubbers, striving to win as many games as possible even if they were to lose.

Hutchins Saturday Pennant

Tennis players in Years 7-10 competed in the Hutchins Saturday Pennant in Term 1. Division 1 was won narrowly by Team Hutchens (Andrew Hutchens, Damien Sikkema, Alexander Tucker and Ben Shadforth) on a countback from Team Squires. Andrew Hutchens was the most consistent player in Division 1.

Division 2 Premiers were Team Bender, consisting of Sebastian Bender, Jonty Walker, Josh Downie, Gary McIntyre and Yianni Papoutsakis. Sebastian Bender was the most consistent player in Division 2.

First IV Tennis: Jeremy Court, Jack Saffin, Edward Bouchier (c), Mr Peter Crofts (Manager). Absent – Shaun Thomas

Friday Twilight Pennant

Hutchins entered 12 teams from Year 7-10 across five divisions in the Tennis Tasmania Junior Twilight Pennant. Only Hutchins Phobos in Division 2A were Premiers of their roster. Hutchins Phobos consisted of Marc Cayzer, Ryan Fitton, Andrew Hutchens, Andrew Douglas and Nick Squires.

Second IV Tennis: Charles Thomson, Charles Stoessiger (c), Mr Peter Crofts (Manager), Kirk Stewart & David Ward

Hutchins Tennis Championships

The Senior School Tennis Champion is Ed Bouchier, who defeated Sam Howe 8-1 in the final. The Middle School Tennis Champion is Shaun Thomas who defeated Jack Saffin in his final.

Waterpolo

Waterpolo in 2004 was very successful. The First VII won the grand final; the Year 9/10s made the semi-finals; and the Year 7/8s were unlucky to miss out on a finals berth.

Hutchins had many state representatives this year. Congratulations to Simon Hay, Benn Butterworth and Leighton Beer in U14; Dave Gardner, Mark Fenton, Leighton Beer and Michael Egan in U17; and Stephen Beer and Jesse O'Hara who played for Hobart Hammerheads at senior level in the National League.

First VII

The Firsts went through the season winning all but one game. With a perfect blend of youth and experience we were the strongest team within our competition, which included Friends' Guilford Young College, and Rosny. The grand final match was against our arch-rivals GYC. With a win each during the season, a close game – as in previous years – was expected. To our surprise after a blitzing first half we led 5–2 at half time. The second half was pretty much a stale mate with both teams missing a lot of opportunities. In the end we managed to hold on and secure the John Whitehouse Perpetual Trophy and the premiership. Final scores were 7–3.

Standout players throughout the season were Jessie O'Hara, Ronan Fenton, Martin Mulcahy (Co Vice-Captain), Stephen Beer, Richard Gard (Co Vice-Captain) and Michael Egan. A special thanks to all supporters who braved the Aquatic Centre conditions to support us – it was much appreciated. A huge thankyou to our coach Scott Wilson and to Mr McNamara for his work as Teacher-in-charge.

Year 7/8

Two teams, Magenta and Black, improved significantly over the season and were unlucky to miss out on the finals. Merit Awards were presented to Simon Hay, Benn Butterworth, Tom Reid, Sam Edwards, Chris Walsh and David Mulcahy. Special thanks to coaches Jessie O'Hara, Stephen Beer, Michael Egan and Julian Sayers.

Year 9/10

The two teams, also named Magenta and Black, finished third and fourth respectively. Both were knocked out of the competition in the semi-finals. Merit Awards were presented to Mark Fenton, Alastair Sayers, Charles Gard, David Gardner, Leighton Beer, Michael Sorrell-Saunders and Nick Squires. Thankyou also to coaches Tony Cannell and Nathaniel Symmons.

Open Division

In the College Division of the SBA two teams were entered in Term 1. College A, led by Jonathon Barnes, Toby Mestitz and Ash Winter, had mixed results against powerhouses Rosny, Hobart and Guilford Young. Wins against Elizabeth, Friends' and Rosny B demonstrated the team's strong potential and its outstanding endeavour. The College B side, led by Ramanan Daniel, Danny Yeo and Tom Hung, showed strong effort and improving skills, without many wins.

In SATIS in Terms 2 and 3, new recruits were discovered, namely forward Matthew Cleary and Robert Sim and guards Matthew Wilson and Year 9's Will Fehlberg. Highlights were two powerful wins over Friends' and two very close defeats by Hobart College. With a forfeit by Guilford Young, the Firsts regained the SATIS shield for the first time in four years and allowed the team to play Hobart College in the Grand Final. The match was a great display of individual skills and team defence. Hutchins fell short by two points to a determined Hobart for the fifth time during the year. Congratulations to the whole Hutchins squad for their successes and gaining the SATIS shield.

Mike Fishburn

Year 10

Terms 1 and 3 saw some great results for the Year 10 sides in the SATIS roster. In Term 1, Hutchins B, coached by Mr Brad Blackaby, finished top of the ladder to claim the pennant. And in Term 3, Hutchins Black won a very closely contested grand final over SVC by two points. Matthew Cleary dominated both ends of the court under the basket, and all players showed great character, sportsmanship and contributed a fine team effort. Thank you to Mr Mike Brelis, Mr Brad Blackaby and Toby Mestitz for their coaching contributions this year.

Year 9

This year group has yielded players numbering close to 20 and I have been impressed by the boys' positive attitude, dedication and enthusiasm to both training and matches. In Term 1, two evenly graded teams, shared mixed results throughout the roster, but neither teams was able to secure a top position on the ladder.

Term 3 roster saw a reshuffle of the teams and, again, they achieved mixed results. The end of the roster saw Hutchins Black finish top of the ladder but, unfortunately due to camp and injury, they were undermanned in the grand final and a 4-player Hutchins side gave a strong St Virgil's College a run for their money, losing by only six points. Congratulations to James Ponte, Will Fehlberg, Tom Calvert and Matthew Besley for their valiant efforts. Many thanks to Maki Behrakis and Ryan Bean for coaching assistance this year.

Sheree Macdonald

Year 8

A large squad of 21 boys was split into three teams. This meant few substitutes but lots of court time. Development of the team was a crucial issue during the season and this will become even more important as the boys mature. There are some very promising skilled individual players in the squads. Thanks go to James Rice for his ongoing coaching commitment and to Jamie Morrow and Will Fehlberg's contributions when they were able.

Bill Toppin

Year 7

The Year 7 basketball team coached by Robert Sim and Dr Jim had a very successful term, with a record of five wins, two losses and one draw including a 45–34 grand final win against Sacred Heart on Thursday. Joe Carroll and Charles Dargaville led the team throughout the season.

Football

First XVIII

The season started with a home game against St Patrick's College. After trailing by seven points at the main break the visitors kicked away – eventually winning by thirty-seven points. This was despite the best efforts of James Jubb, Mathew Creese and Tom Friend, who bagged three goals.

Two weeks later the team travelled to Melbourne to play Trinity Grammar. During the weekend the team watched two AFL games, and spent time getting to know one another, helping strengthen the bonds between the players.

Against a physically bigger Trinity side the team put in a very solid performance. Matthew Lister kicked three goals, and Jeremy Hales two, as Hutchins went down by thirty-six points. This was a very respectable result considering the depth of talent the opposition possessed.

Back from their trip away the team hosted a young Scotch Oakburn. The positive effect the Melbourne trip had had was evident as the team won by a commanding sixty points, led by Michael Egan with a four goal, best-on-ground performance.

The next week the boys lined up away against Guilford Young College. In spite of the heavy conditions the side pulled off a 102-point win: Michael Egan again best on ground, Ronan Fenton kicking seven. A home win against Launceston Grammar by ninety-three points the next week saw the boys sitting second at the mid-way point of the season.

The next game was to be the turning point of the season, travelling to face St Pats. The first half was a scrappy affair: St Pats lead by eight at quarter-time, Hutchins by five at the main break. Emerging from the rooms it was St Pats who had the better quarter, kicking six goals to three to lead by seventeen at the final change.

The lead then extended to twenty-three after they kicked the first goal early in the last quarter. However, led by Tyson Wills, the side rallied, kicking seven of the next nine goals, including two to Rob Jubb and four to Ronan

Fenton, to see them home by eight points. This inspiring win left the team on top of the ladder, meaning if they could win their next three games they would qualify automatically for a home state final.

And win their next three games they did, beating Scotch by 33, Guilford by 72 and Grammar by 117 points. After St Pats beat Scotch in a close preliminary final, the boys started preparation for a state final at the WMO against a team they had been neck-and-neck with all season.

In front of a large crowd the game did not get off to a very good start for the home side, trailing by ten points at quarter time, and falling even further behind during the second quarter. At half time the scoreboard read: SPC 7-2-44 HUT 1-6-12.

The final quarter was a scrap, with both sides managing to kick only a single goal. All across the ground players stood up and were counted, including youngsters Matthew Cleary and Mark Fenton, as well as Sam Lambert, who in his first game back after sustaining a broken hand took a courageous mark to both settle and inspire the team. Mathew Creese, in a best on ground effort, constantly provided drive from the mid-field.

When the siren finally sounded Hutchins was eight points ahead, having produced one of the finest comebacks most present will ever witness, winning a state premiership the school had not won since 2000.

In the rooms the boys had to ask themselves some very tough questions. It would have been very easy to roll over and accept defeat. But thanks to some inspiring words from the Coach, Mr Rae, everyone walked back onto the ground thinking it was possible.

In front of a disbelieving crowd (including some who had packed up ready to leave early) the boys put in a superb effort, keeping St Pats

Special thanks to Mr Chris Rae for his role as coach and mentor to all the players, to Mr Alan Morley and Mr Andrew Jones for their assistance as managers, to Ian Anderson and the parent group for all their support throughout a long and tough season, and to everyone who came and supported the team right throughout the year.

Sandy Bay Lions

Mr Ian Anderson has capably created a winning collaboration between the Sandy Bay Junior Football Club and Hutchins, which provides resources and some 90% of the players. This year St Virgil's College teams followed this example, feeding players to the Hobart Football Club and becoming the Hobart Saints.

With Ian's strong foundation and continuing activity behind the scenes and at the grounds, and the larger-than-life presence of Al Rafferty, new President Mark Edwards steered every team into their respective grand finals! Ian Anderson provides his final report...

Under 13s – Minor premiers

The Under 13s had a very successful season under coach Steven Hay and team captain Sam Hookway. The team finished on top of the ladder having completed the roster matches undefeated. In the second semi-final, the team suffered its first defeat to the eventual premiers, Glenorchy. After a strong performance in the preliminary final, our boys qualified for the grand final.

The final was a keenly-contested affair with both teams having opportunities to win the game. Our opponents Glenorchy, responded to the challenge and went on to win the flag. Our success was the result of a great team effort, with team awards going to Marcus Davies, Tom Reid, Tom Balcombe and Simon Hay. Other players to feature prominently were Sam Hookway, Jack Boon, Jordan McCreary and Dougal Middleton.

Under 14s – Grand finalists

The Under 14s again had a very successful season to follow up last year's grand final appearance. The team was expertly coached by former Hutchins First XVIII player Hugo Brettingham-Moore, who enlisted match day assistance from Andrew Hazell.

After a very consistent season, the team completed the roster rounds in second position on the ladder and entered the finals with the benefit of last year's experience. After a very closely contested semi-final we were just nudged out by Hobart. Our boys regrouped and won their next two finals in convincing fashion.

For the second year in a row, we faced North Hobart in the grand final. After a great start, we were unable to hold out our opponents who won their second successive flag. Once again teamwork was a feature of our season. Individual team awards went to Sam Edwards, Tom Arnold, Angus Brettingham-Moore, and Tom Allwright. Tom Arnold was a very worthy runner-up in the League best-and-fairest medal.

Under 15s – Premiership winners

The Under 15s began the season with a number of new players and a very big challenge following narrow defeats in the past two grand finals. Mick Arnold once again took on the coaching role and was ably assisted by Wayne Peacock, Robbie Crane and number of parents.

The roster season was keenly contested but we managed to go through the roster rounds undefeated and finish on top of the ladder. The real challenge then began as we entered the finals. The second semi-final was against Lauderdale on a wet and windy day at Claremont but despite a strong second half we were well beaten. The preliminary final against Glenorchy was our last chance and we won through to grand final in very convincing fashion.

For the second year in a row, we lined up against Lauderdale in the Grand Final. For the first three quarters we were completely outplayed by our opponents and defeat seemed inevitable. Our boys thought otherwise, and fought back from five goals down at three quarter time to level the scores at full time. In extra time, the team really stood up, and we managed to prevail by five points – a truly fantastic result. In an outstanding team effort over the season, it is difficult to single out individuals. Team awards went to Joe Arnold, Sam Peacock, Sam Hills and Simon Crane. Other players to feature were Ellis Perry, Josh Archer, Kevin Jubb and Chris Morrison. Joe Arnold was the very worthy winner of the League best-and-fairest medal for Under 15s.

Under 17s – Minor premiers

Our Under 17s looked to be a very strong team on paper and, as the season unfolded, this became very apparent. The team was once again coached by John Barwick with the able assistance of Alex Thomson – we thank both of them for commitment and dedication.

The roster season proved very successful and we managed to go through undefeated to take out the minor premiership. Michael Egan was an outstanding winner of the League best-and-fairest medal with Mathew Creese also featuring prominently. Tom Friend won the League goal kicking award.

Following a very convincing semi-final victory, we went into the grand final as hot favourites. Our opponents were Hobart whom we had convincingly beaten on three occasions during the year. On the day, we were beaten by the better side and had to settle for the runners-up prize: a great season with an opportunity lost.

Individual team awards went to Michael Egan, Mathew Creese and Tom Friend with Scott Nichols, Matthew Cleary, Mark Fenton, Zac Johnston, Tim Salewicz and Robert Sim also performing consistently.

Athletics

After leaving last year's State Independent School Carnival empty handed, this was a year for the Hutchins athletics team to regain its credibility. With one of the strongest Open teams fielded in the last decade, and a junior team full of potential, we were hoping for some successful results in the Southern and State Independent Schools Carnivals.

Notable performances were Jared Sheppard with wins in the 100m, 200m and relay in both meets; Matt Creese with wins in the long jump, triple jump and relay in both meets; and Tristan Thomas with wins in the 110m hurdles, 400m, 800m and relay. Other highlights were Nick Enman's record breaking throw of 13.63m to win the Southern Open Shot Putt and Henry Allwright's breakthrough win in the State Open High Jump.

The Junior Boys were not outdone and also achieved some very impressive results.

Perhaps the performance of the two weeks was produced by Ryan Foster who broke four middle distance records which had stood for up to 30 years. Ryan won the 800m and 1500m in both meets and was part of the successful U16 relay team.

Great promise was also shown by Sam Crosswell, who beat key rivals to win the U16 100m and 200m at the State Independent meet and the 400m at the Southern carnival. Hamish Peacock provided great support in the throwing events, winning the trifecta of the U14 Shot Putt, Javelin and Discus at the State Carnival.

What was best to see was the success of the hard working U13 relay team. This team consisting of James Hay, Tom Reid, Simon Turbett and Dougal Middleton came within 0.1s of the Southern record before coming even closer the following week, missing out on the State Record by 0.02s. The Junior Boys had a hard battle with SVC on both days but ended up finished an agonisingly close second on both occasions.

These results combined to give Hutchins the Aggregate Boys' Trophy at both meets, which raised our total to four trophies over the two weeks.

It has been an honour captaining this fine team and with such a strong group of athletes in the younger grades I'm sure that the team's future is in good hands.

STOP PRESS:

"Tasmanian sprint sensation Tristan Thomas struck gold in the Commonwealth Youth Games in Bendigo yesterday. The 18-year-old Hutchins student, best known for his ability as a 400m hurdler, won the 400m in a personal best time of 47.06 sec"

STOP PRESS AGAIN:

"This month alone, Thomas has won Commonwealth Youth Games 400m and relay gold medals and four national All-School titles in Sydney in the 200m, 400m, 400m hurdles and 800m.

He ran and won all races in Sydney – including heats and finals – over just two days.

Thomas is believed to be the first person to have won every All-School race between 200m and 800m – a remarkable performance which saw him named the athlete of the meet..."

— The Mercury, 23 December 2004, in which a complete page (no adverts) was devoted to "his heroics" with two photos captioned:

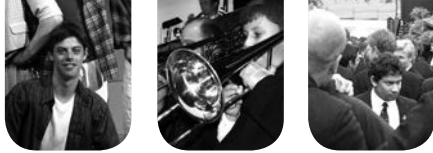

"HARD YARDS: A year of sacrifice and literally clearing all hurdles pays off for Tristan Thomas with a ticket to train at the Australian Institute of Sport"

"ON TRACK: A place at the 2006 Commonwealth Games is one of Tristan's targets"

We ended up dominating the open competition in both meets, winning 17 out of a possible 28 events. The open team won the College Boys' trophy in both the Southern Independent Schools' and the State Independent Schools' Carnivals.
